ACADEMICS

“I WAS UP 'TILL 12:30

studying for a nine weeks test", was what rang through the halls each quarter and everyone always ended up saying, "after all that studying I still flunked." We were not only studying at home but whenever we could find a moment alone, or together. Whether it was in an empty room, or with a friend, we found that studying and learning could be fun.

1. An old pair of jeans, a worn book and the shade of an oak tree help junior Ron Moore study for a World History test.
2. Lake Overholser provides a backdrop for juniors Dick Stubbs and Cheryl Lewis as they study after school.

3. Sophomore Judy Higgins finds that studying late the night before can make even the most interesting lecture dull.

WE AS INDIVIDUALS SEEM TO

relate to a lot of things, love, kindness, and sincerity. Going to school you learn, out of school you experience. In nature we find security, in our home-life we find strength, but in our heart we find love. At West the students are very lucky in that we are surrounded by the most beautiful thing in whole world, nature. The autumn leaves wrap themselves on the campus as we anxiously await the coming of a new year, a new hope, and a new life. Lake Overholser is at our doorstep, and life is in the air.

Taking advantage of some free time senior Charlie Johnson and junior Julianne Bechtol go to a nearby park to be alone.

HOME COMING

“OUR GOAL IS IN SIGHT”

This year the 1974-75 football homecoming was over as quickly as it had arrived. Each class searched for its float theme and of course, the football players were looking for a victory. Everything started at the parking lot of the First Baptist Church in Bethany, or did it? It really started with a feeling, an emotion, someone wanting to make a difference. Yes, our goal was in sight and everyone worked together and we were a team. A funny thing happened we realized that homecoming isn't only a football team, but being a kid that loves his school. We had a parade that traveled through downtown Bethany and told others how we felt about our school. This year we made the difference. We lost the football game but we came closer to finding that link that keeps us together.

1. Kevin McAfee, junior, entertains students during the homecoming assembly as well as the parade.
2. Candidate-elect for homecoming queen, Vicki Copper, senior, and Mrs. Ame Gorena are excited because West's 14-0 lead over PC at halftime.
3. Long hours were put in the class members during the weeks preceding homecoming.
4. Seniors placed first for the third straight year as they captured winner of the float competition.
5. Queen Marilyn Lundein is crowned by John Cherry during the homecoming halftime ceremonies.
6. Band members Terry Hullett, James Edmonds, Don Templeman, Steve Cordes, David Brackett, Steve Campbell keep in step during the homecoming parade through downtown Bethany.

1. Mud covered senior John Cherry urges his team on to no avail. Norman held the Patriots to a 0-0 tie.
2. Dewayne Honeycutt, junior, rests following an after school workout.
3. Leslie Ervin is tagged by senior Mindy Meyer as she tries to make a base during practice.
4. Mark Masters, junior, helps the Patriots place ninth in regionals.

WE GAVE IT ALL WE HAD

SPORTS

as the Patriots swung into perspective. We kicked off sports year with high hopes. The newspapers didn't give us much credit. Other schools looked on us as, "Well, they have a football team," but we showed them differently. Coach Little said, "We look good," and we did. We executed the plays well. The team was really clicking, they were Patriots. Even in the middle of the year, when things were looking up for the basketball team, people would say, "They have a basketball team?" But players like Keith Journey and Barry Brown and the rest of the guys told them differently. Toward the end of the year the track team was having really hard work-outs.

But let's not forget the girls who were into softball, track, and volleyball. And this was all for a cause, not just for winning a match or holding our opponents scoreless. It was for being a Patriot and being one and being together.

A SPARK IS ALL IT TAKES

and we found it came not only in this bonfire but in our hearts. It was the night before the game with Putnam City and the Psychology Club sponsored the P.C. West Rally against the Pirates. It was really far out. We built a whole bunch of pyramids and had a football game at Bethany Park which lasted past sundown. And then it hit us; we were not only passing a football around, but time, and a memory we wouldn't forget.

1. An October afternoon fades into busy winter days for senior Mike Nimmo and junior Sandy Kennedy.
2. Reflecting on the past year is Ron Moore, junior.
3. Dirk Taylor, sophomore, finds a deserted pipe the only place to be alone.

WE COULD SEE

ourselves growing and maturing as we were learning to live in harmony with one another. In growing and learning together we found we did not lose our identities but we remained individuals even as we were becoming one. Time passed and we lived our lives up to our own expectations. Being alone we found a fulfillment. We found eternity. The spring came and with it brought a joy and a gladness to our hearts. School was nearing an end and the 2:45 p.m. bell was about to sound. I had found myself.

The great thing about the bell is that it tolls on and boldly looks the future right in the face. For no matter how high the goal, how far the star, or how small you feel, look close and you can see a bell that stands for concern and sincerity 60 seconds of every minute, 24 hours a day, and 12 months every year. For remember, we as individuals need to keep putting things together, our life, friendships, and love. Then we need to start tolling as the bell does, for being heard is a God-given privilege. Even as the bell grows from a mass with no form so do our lives grow by touching each other.

GROWING

OUR SECOND HOME

Leaving a place that you have lived for three years is kind of sad but it brings you to the question, "was it worth it." With the facilities available at West it was ~~worth~~ impossible to fail. With the fourth phase of construction being the newly finished auditorium there was plenty of room.

1. West's new auditorium, when completed, will cost an estimated $1,250,000.
2. Construction on the auditorium was temporarily stopped because of excessive rains.
3. Construction began on the new auditorium in the spring of 1974.
4. Putnam City West with the new auditorium in final stages of completion.
5. Mr. Webb looks over plans for new additions to West.

Studying for tests was often time consuming, but it was well worth it.

Students from West learned from working together.

Sometimes it seemed that too much importance was placed on earning a grade and grades couldn't measure all we had really learned.

The Tedious Times

1. Juniors Lorraine Prescott and Lynn Craine waiting for films in Mrs. Purser's Mass Media class.
2. Junior Jerry Roberts works on another of Mr. Lantz's specialty worksheets.
3. Senior Barry Brown studies in the cafeteria when everyone else has gone home.
4. Steve Oliver, senior, works on Ms. Jantz's trig test.
5. Juniors Brad Barton and Jim Hopkins in their second hour class.

Let's Have Some Fun

1. PDA is not allowed in the halls of West but no one ever said anything about outside the doors.
2. Buddy Shilling says goodbye to Gayla Smith as she leaves for work at the Bethany Animal Hospital after school.
3. Friends Ken King and Conde Morris find time to talk in the parking lot during lunch.
4. Kathy George tells Rick Dillard to open wide for a bite of his kitchen sink at J.B. Nimbles.

It's been said that the best years of a person's life are the years of high school. Throughout the past three years we have had our fun at West. The people we have met have truly been great. Whether it was going with that special someone to the Grand Funk Railroad Concert at the Civic Center or seeing and feeling Earthquake at the Plaza Theater, we always seem to have fun. The times spent here at West will be remembered forever within each of us.

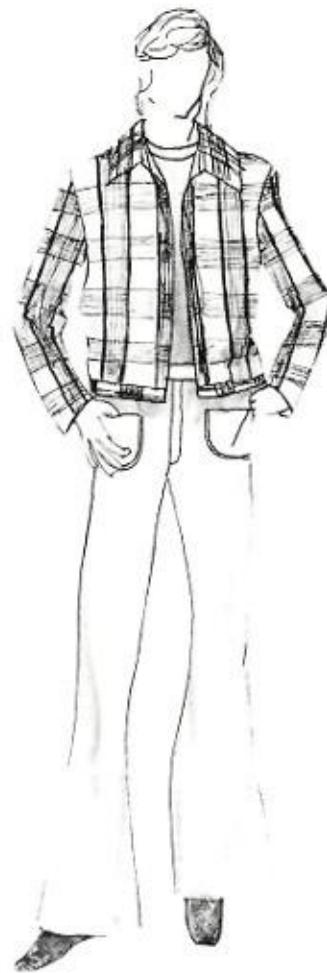

Fashions change every day. People's tastes are what make styles differ. The type of clothes worn by young adults today characterize what the styles will be tomorrow. The styles have repeated themselves many times through the ages. Fashions of yesterday are today.

1. School styles are shown by Sue Ray.
2. Shoe styles change and the twenties look is in this year. High heels and open toes seemed to pop up everywhere, but the good old waffle stomper stood up among the best of them as it proudly completed the jean's look.
3. Junior Amy Lekawski shows one of this year's fashions.
4. The fashion of a guy ready for his date is shown by junior Dori Minder.
5. Styles for casual times is shown by junior Amy Lekawski.

Vittles Times?

1. Sophomore Marie DeBee trys to enjoy a noisy, crowded lunch in the cafeteria.
2. Our snack bar is the quickest place to get food finds junior Tony Davis.
3. Sophomore Sunny Allen splurges on a McDonalds Hot Apple Pie.
4. Junior Mike Carston, like many others, drives a short distance for a good meal at the Sonic Drive-In.
5. Senior Mark Grennan enjoys a hot cup pf coffee in the quiet atmosphere at Bonanza.

"Chowing down" and "munching out" were common phases as West students spent the majority of their time eating.

Even though we weren't suppose to take food from the concession stand area ~~but~~ red hot suckers somehow seemed to pop up all over the school.

Sonic, McDonald's, and Bonanza all rated at the top of the list of places to take a date and not spend a lot!

what Election?

1. President Gerald Ford, drawn by sophomore Denine Heitfeld.
2. Sophomore Conde Morris draws Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller.
3. Governor David Boren, Oklahoma's youngest governor, drawn by Jae Kim.

Boren Sweeps State

Politically the years 1974 & 1975 were a mess. Officials on the state level were relieved of their offices.

For the first time in history neither the President nor the Vice-President were elected by the people.

It seemed the nation was purged as Gerald Ford took command of the reins of the national government. Meanwhile, David Boren and his young broom brigade received control of the state.

Recession was rampant as prices skyrocketed. For the first time in history the penny piece of bubble gum cost two cents and you didn't even get as much.

The days of the nickel candy bar are gone and the 15¢ concession stand coke costs 20¢.

HONORED STUDENTS

Last year's state Junior Miss, Diana Hardy, crowned Kay Lynn Northcutt, senior, at the state Junior Miss Contest. Contestants were judged on charm, poise, talent, and scholastic achievements and Kay received a $1,000 scholarship.

Other special people at West were exchange students: Urma Kuhmonen, from Finland; Vera Palva and Adelio Gornelles, from Brazil. They were sponsored by Youth for Understanding.

1. Learning new skills in typing is Adelio Dornelles, an exchange student from Brazil. 2. Finland exchange student Irma Kuhmonen throws clay on the potter's wheel during her art class. 3. Oklahoma's Junior Miss is Kay Northcutt. 4. Working clay in her pottery class is one of senior Kay Northcutt's favorite subjects. 5. Exchange student from Brazil, Vera Palva, enjoys making friends in her classes.

ART club

Art Club students attended the eight state competitive art show at the Oklahoma Arts Center in the fall and afterwards went to the Pizza Inn for a party.

Members of the club had art sales twice during the year netting the students almost a thousand dollars.

"I really thought it was cool to be able to make something and sell it at the art sale, and the money was all mine."

Students were screened for state art shows and Red Ridge attracted West students for competition.

1. Art student Winn McLain creates a hanging basket.

2. Painting the hall windows for Christmas was one of the many projects of the Art Club.

3. Gary Shilling, Jeannie Julian, Jimmy Chavez and other students attend an art show at the fair grounds.

2. & 3. Sophomore David Fairbairn runs the film projector for Mrs. Bartley's Spanish class.

chess club

"Check? Are you crazy? I have a bishop right over . . . well, I used to have a bishop there." Our group was always full of surprises and fun. We went to quite a few tournaments and had placed third in city and fourth in state competition by January.

Chess is not a game of physical strength but of risk, strategy, and one of the most challenging sports on today's scene.

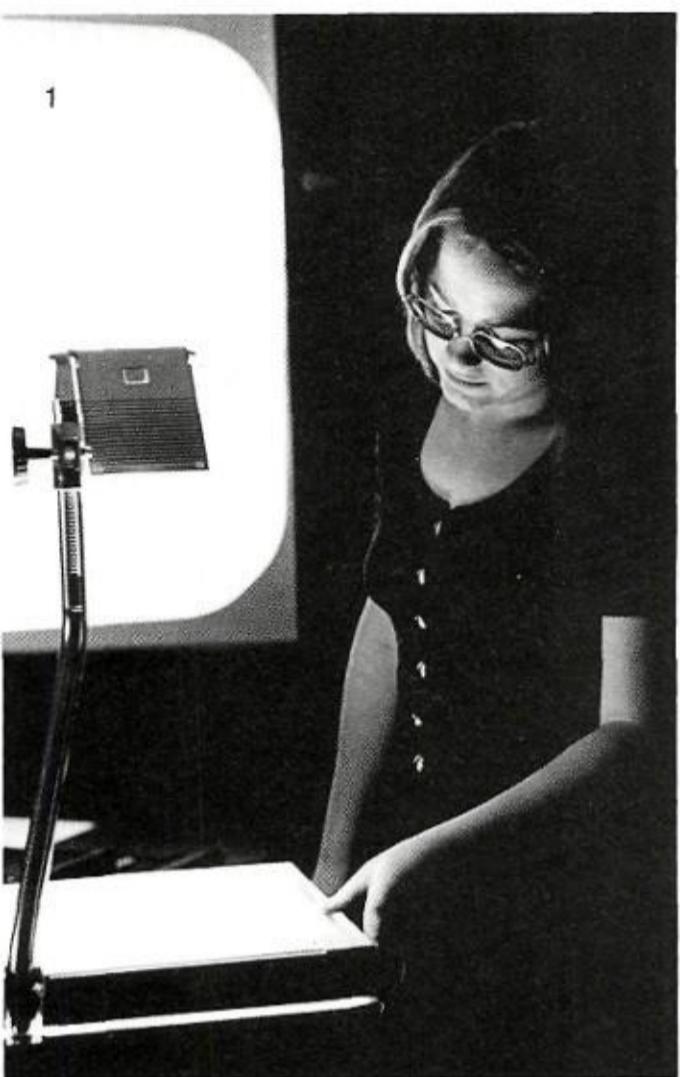

FRONT ROW: Ken Wright, Roy McMullen, president; Charles Garris, Robert Schmidt. ROW TWO: Robert Murcer, Eric Green, Steve Richardson. BACK ROW: Dana Patillo, Jeff Hand.

1. Chess player Eric Green moves out of check.
2. Chess Champion Charles Garris skillfully contemplates a move to checkmate his opponent.

COMMERCIAL club

Commercial Club emphasizes secretarial and clerical work. "I always have wanted to be a secretary."

The academic part of the course was fun and learning about poise and manners was interesting.

Besides having films and guest speakers we got together once a month at Sambo's on 23rd for breakfast.

In order to be eligible for the club you must be enrolled in one of Mrs. William's business classes.

1. COE student, Kim Coley works with an overhead projector for a class project.

2. Linda Smith tediously copies her shorthand in COE.

3. COE member, Debbie Miller works on an assignment during class.

"I would have really liked to have gone to the slumber party, but it was way out in the country." "Worshiping God is wonderful, and there is nothing better than a Christian friend."

Doing things for people is great, but doing things for God is a blessing. We held a Halloween party and a Christmas party for the Baptist Children's Home. Slumber parties were also a big highlight of our club.

1. Marilyn Lundein participates in a skit for the Fellowship of Christian Girls.
2. Janie Fryer pantomimes one of the "Twelve Days of Christmas," during the Fellowship of Christian Girls Christmas party.

"What was really embarrassing was having to stand up and dance after school in front of everybody."

October was highlighted as we went to Salina, Oklahoma, close to the Arkansas line. Man, was it crowded. Six people were in the luggage racks and two kids stood up for the three hour drive. Being a part of the action was our goal and it was achieved again when we sponsored the donkey races at the Junior Carnival.

1. Mari DeeBee, Christy Taylor prepare for the French Club trip to Salina, Oklahoma.
2. Jenny Manning and Jeff Mathis are the new French Club queen and king.
3. Robert Mercer, junior, prepares his costume for an upcoming French club meeting.

"Pizza was the only thing I ate that whole night because I was one of the new officers to be installed."

Along with our installation ceremony at Shakey's we went to Oscar Rose Junior College on a field trip to explore the business department there.

I especially liked our meeting when we had a speaker from O.S.U. Technical Institute.

Our officers attended the State Officers Orientation Conference at Southgate Inn in September. They learned about how to be a leader. "As a part of the conference, I realized I was no longer a kid but an adult with the future in my hands."

1. Bob Pederson and Ann Robertson were elected as Mr. and Miss FBLA this year. 2. Karen Stitt and Kathy Hohman are looking up information for the State FBLA Convention.

"One thing about having a mother-daughter banquet is that is sure can be embarrassing." I really did enjoy the teas and parties that the Future Homemakers of America had. The best party was the one we had at Christmas.

We sold stationary, place mats, donuts and almost everything under the sun before our sweetheart banquet in the spring.

FTA

Students in the Future Teacher's of America are interested in teaching as a profession.

"Being in such a small club made it a lot easier to get to know each other really well."

Becky Blackmon had the club over to her house for a Christmas party.

Tutoring was offered second semester and students needing help in college found scholarships available.

1. Ms. Olinger tries sweets at the FTA Christmas party.
2. Brenda Rahill attempts to hold a discussion in Ms. Olinger's 4th hr. World History class as part of the FTA program.

GERMAN club

Polka parties at Ernie's Polka Palace were just one of many places that German students got to show their talent as polka dancers.

Other places included the State Convention on the Oral Roberts University campus in Tulsa and the National Convention held during the summer in Tennessee, as well as having parties with P.C.'s club.

Polka and schadish dance lessons were taught to students for ten cents a lesson and monthly bake sales were held to raise money for the club to use.

HEALTH club

"Moving in the direction of the medical field is what I was really looking forward to and Health Careers Club was just what I needed."

Through this organization we learned about medicine and people. The study of medicine was easy, it was people that we had the toughest time with.

We sold peppermint candy bowls to buy a recreational item for the Children's Convalescent Home.

HONOR SOCIETY

We had our initiation buffet at Furr's Cafeteria last March.

One hundred and five juniors and fifteen seniors joined the one hundred and one other seniors as members of the National Honor Society.

A 3.5 over-all grade point from the ninth grade was necessary in order to join N.H.S.

Those of us who had a 3.8 grade average were eligible for the Oklahoma Honor Society.

key club

"To me, Key Club is an organization to better young men for a richer and fuller life." Selling different articles can be such a hassle. We sold light bulbs. One of our many objects was to go to Switzerland, where the International Key Club Convention was held. We also sold license tags that said 'Go Patriots'. "It was a long year for us but we came out way ahead, I was a better person because of it."

1. Ron Maxfield, sponsor, and Mike Fusco, junior, look over license plates sold by Key Club a money making project.

2. One of the many activities sponsored by the Key Club was posting the colors. Terry Hullet helps Randy Lawson fold the flag.

LATIN club

"Latin Club is a great club." We had all kinds of things to do. For instance, we made marble mice for the Art Show and had Mythology contests, also old Latin dancing which isn't as easy as it sounds. What we really looked forward to was our National Convention in New York.

1. Cheryl Grant, sophomore, makes marble mice for Latin Club.
2. Annalisa Cahill, junior, is the Latin Club's Calpurnia and De Mille Madoux, junior, is Julius Caesar.
3. Rex Boatright, sophomore, escorts the Latin Club float in the West's float parade.

LIBRARY CLUB

"You have got to be kidding. Oh, give us a little slack. Do we have to sell candy canes? I don't think we realized that we were getting ourselves into until after the sales were all over. And boy, did we sell a lot.

Later we found out that candy canes were only a stepping stone. Little did we know that we would be selling tapes, cassettes and T-shirts.

With the money we make we bought something for the library. We were really a moving club that did something for the school. You know, that is what it is all about.

LITERARY club

"Wonder what we will put in this year's Literary Club Anthology?" I really like putting together things that meant a lot to the students.

The Anthology and the book of poetry that were put out were highly looked up to. What was so great was during the meetings the minds of the members would click and someone would say, "I have an idea."

This year Pep Club was more than just a group of girls that screamed at games. We felt every emotion we showed and it made us feel involved — we knew we were the people that made up a part of growing learning, and becoming one. Involvement! That was what it was all about. The more we got involved the more we knew we were a group and the more we could feel the times that guys got hit on the football field. The upward push by the center basketball player, or the strain that the wrestlers felt while they were pinning their man, or the pressure inside the lungs of swimmers, or the muscles that tightened in the strides of the cross country runners, and so much more was felt by each of us. We began to realize all the effort that was behind the games. And when we realized this, we knew that each one of us with our individual feelings had put together a unit that made up a part of Putnam City West. With this realization, we knew we had grown, and learned, and become one. We were Patriots, and we were one . . . we were the '75 Pep Club of Putnam City West.

Along with the '75 Pep Club came everything from Pep Club Teas, get-to-know-everybody party for girls interested in joining the organization, to the Pledge Initiation Day where . . .

. . . new Pep Club members had to go through everything from eating whole raw onions to rolling a peanut down the halls of P.C.W. Kathy Johnson and Tami Lawyer, sophomore pledges, prepare to take another step toward their initiation to Pep Club membership.

Like we had a cookout where we roasted marshmellow's and weinies; it was great! We also sponsored an all school bonfire that was the pep rally right before the P.C. game. "Before the bonfire we all got together and played a game of football. I ripped my shirt." Getting to know people was far out and different kinds of communication was how we did it. "Going was great and being kind was greater."

We had our large freedom bell that we rang at all the home games. We even have a telephone pole someone painted blue and yellow that we carried up and down the football field when someone made a touch-down.

Generating energy at all the games was pretty tough, but it was not for a lost cause. Being a Patriot is great, but being in the Sons of Liberty is outstanding.

Quill and Scroll makes its premier for honorary journalists as we begin the first active chapter at West since 1970.

"I wanted to start an active chapter because it helped me learn more about journalism as well as offering me a scholarship for something I really enjoyed doing", commented Denine Heitfield, vice-president of Quill and Scroll.

We sponsored a Cancer Drive with our main objective being to do something for our community and school. The drive led us to the conclusion, if you want to do something good for other people, get involved! The first day of the march proved quite successful as we cleared $100.00. That day's contributions helped make the district goal of $25,000.00 not quite so far away.

One of the main purposes for Quill and Scroll is to get High school students more involved in journalism and activities such as raising money for a reference library.

From our initiation, which was conducted by Northwest Classen, to all of our activities, we did get people involved.

You could hear the officers chime in, "We need more input," you could hear Mr. Webb proclaim back, "Let's work it out." The Christmas Dance went off great as everyone boogied to the music of Oddysey. # STUDENT COUNCIL ALTERNATES

Student Council resolutions really can change a school, in laws, in traditions, and in expectations. "Being a Student Council Representative can really be a pain because of all the work and responsibilities." A few times Student Council representatives had a hard time keeping up with the money from each homeroom; but these series of incidents taught everyone something. It taught us responsibility, self-discipline, courtesy, honor, leadership and patriotism.

Besides sponsoring WEST week at the beginning of the year we also sponsored Twirp week and all the pep assemblies. We went on through the year looking for answers to better student government.

1. Student Council officers in character. These active students usually find time to break the monotony of school by creating some fun. Officers are from left to right are Kathy Roush, secretary; Rob Moseley, vice-president; Kim Strickland, chaplain; Kevin McAfee, treasurer.

THESPIANS

Drama! That was what Thespians was all about. If we didn't like ourselves a certain day, all that we had to do was just pick up a script and we were leading a new life.

From holiday assemblies to Broadway productions, we swept the halls of Putnam City West. The auditorium was in the process of being built, but our play, M.A.S.H., came too early in the year to be acted out in the new facilities. We presented our play in the school gymnasium and I have to admit it was a hassle. We had to schedule our rehearsals around the gym classes but it was worth it all when we reached our moment of stardom as we stepped onto the stage.

Before I got interested in N.F.L., I had trouble expressing myself. Maybe it was because I was shy or maybe it was that I just didn't know how to communicate. Whatever the reason might have been, being in speech and drama helped me.

Even though sometimes it seemed that I wasn't learning a lot in class, just being with the kids helped. Although at first we were all a little hesitant to let the class know how we really felt, by the time the end of the first week came, we were all friends and we weren't afraid to get up in front of everybody and say what was really inside of us.

This year I learned that most people respect your ideas and morals whether they agree with it or not. This was what opened my eyes to a new kind of life. I realized that people are the same in the respect that they are different. That is, people are the same in the respect that they are different. That is, people are the same because they are individuals, yet they are different because of personality. When I realized this, I could talk freely without having to worry about what someone would think of me. I was me with my thoughts and if they didn't like it, they didn't have to accept it. I knew that somewhere there was someone that would.

12 YEAR club

After twelve years of being together in the Putnam City School District, I've gotten to know the people here pretty well. Now I realize how important each different personality was to make us a group. It took each of us working together to make this unit called, "The Senior Class of '75". What really hurts is that it takes you twelve years to search and find those certain people and one certain ceremony can draw you apart for all time. "May our senior class live long and be great."

This year the yearbook Staff tried to point out the importance of each individual club so when they are all put together you get the feeling of a well grouped school making "one."

We found out that in school as well as in life, bad things come with the good . . . Fisher-Price just happened to come along. This club was just brilliant as far as breaking the monotony of school went. They did everything from selling used light bulbs to adding our "humor?" to the morning announcements. They were the club that MOVED.

Cindy Carr

Learning is a word that changed the life of man. Learning is accepting facts by reading and experiencing.

We hear the bell tolling in the echoes of time. It sends its message to everyone. As the years ring by, the bell stands tall and proud. As it weathers it starts to peel and crack with age.

As the bell withstands the ages so do our lives withstand time. If only the bell could speak of the experiences it has seen and the facts it has learned and relate them to us how much easier would it be for us to live.

LEARNING

ATHLETICS

"When you can find a class that teaches you to respect your fellow classmates, you will probably find yourself in boy's P.E." There is no one certain highlight of P.E. because it depends on the individual.

Our wide variety of sports just brought out more of the student's own capabilities.

"I thought the facilities were great with the trampoline and track equipment heading the way."

With the talents of Coaches Calvert and Pitt our department was brought into its rightful perspective. Another of the many highlights was the world reknown game of dodge ball. The object of the game being to kill your opponent with a ball 12-15 inches in diameter and then let him lay there and bleed.

"I know a lot of good things have happened in the past few years, but getting a new coach can really be inspiring, especially if his name is Calvert."

2. Practicing on his archery is Bruce Little.
3. Larry Thompson returns serve to opponent during gym class.

"Believe me, there is nothing more embarrassing than wearing a stupid gym suit in front of the boy's P.E. class."

Versatility is important in this type of class. We participated in team sports such as volleyball, basketball, and softball as well as individual sports such as gymnastics, golf and badminton.

We played intramurals before school and sometimes we had co-ed volleyball games with the guys. As far as the game went, it was a lot more fun to play on a girls and boys team but after about 15 minutes, sweat started making your clothes stick to your body making you wish the guys weren't there.

CROSS-COUNTRY

"This year I finally reached my goal. I ran one thousand miles. That is what I call getting into shape." Cross country can be summed up as a sport that shows the individual talent and can still promote the team's efficiency.

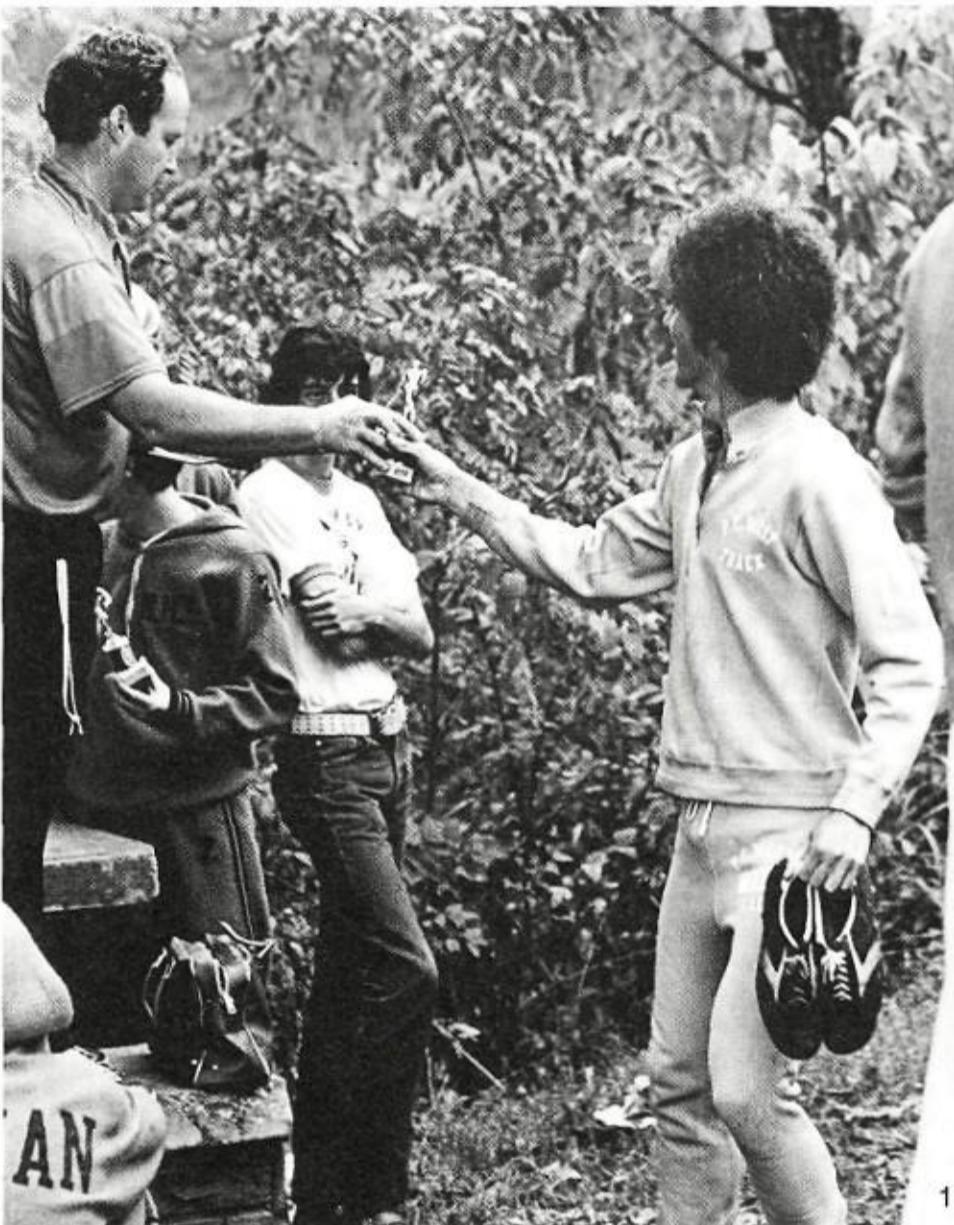

Coach Anderson really understood us and because he did it was a relationship we will always remember.

One of our highlights was when we beat Putnam City in a dual meet in October. We also took third at the Midwest City Invitational and second at the Classen Metro meet.

Heading up the team's talents was Andy Graham who took 12th in State. "If I wanted to be a winner I knew it would take devotion and I gave it all I had."

FOOTBALL

"The one thing that a coach thinks about in fall training is RUN. Getting into shape is a good thing, but I got sick!" We stuck it out though. Our goal was the Boomer Conference. We played one game at a time and we gave it all we had. The coaches and us were looking for unity and we found it. West had a football team! Players like Buchanan, Woodard, Thornton, Woosley, Light, Boynton, Chisum, and Pettijohn weren't going to let West forget the year that they made it happen. "We won every game coach, we really did!" Officially, the records rated West as only number four, in the Boomer Conference. But with the knowledge that we did our best, we still ended up in winning.

ATHLETICS

"Gripping the ground like a vice I tried not to show I was hurting, but then when I let my feet back down, I was all right." Lots of people don't know, or will never begin to know, the endurance it takes to play football. It has been described as an exercise where you lay on your back and lift your feet six inches off the ground. Boy, it's really tough. Fall training began in August, with ninety-six degree weather welcoming us back on the practice field.

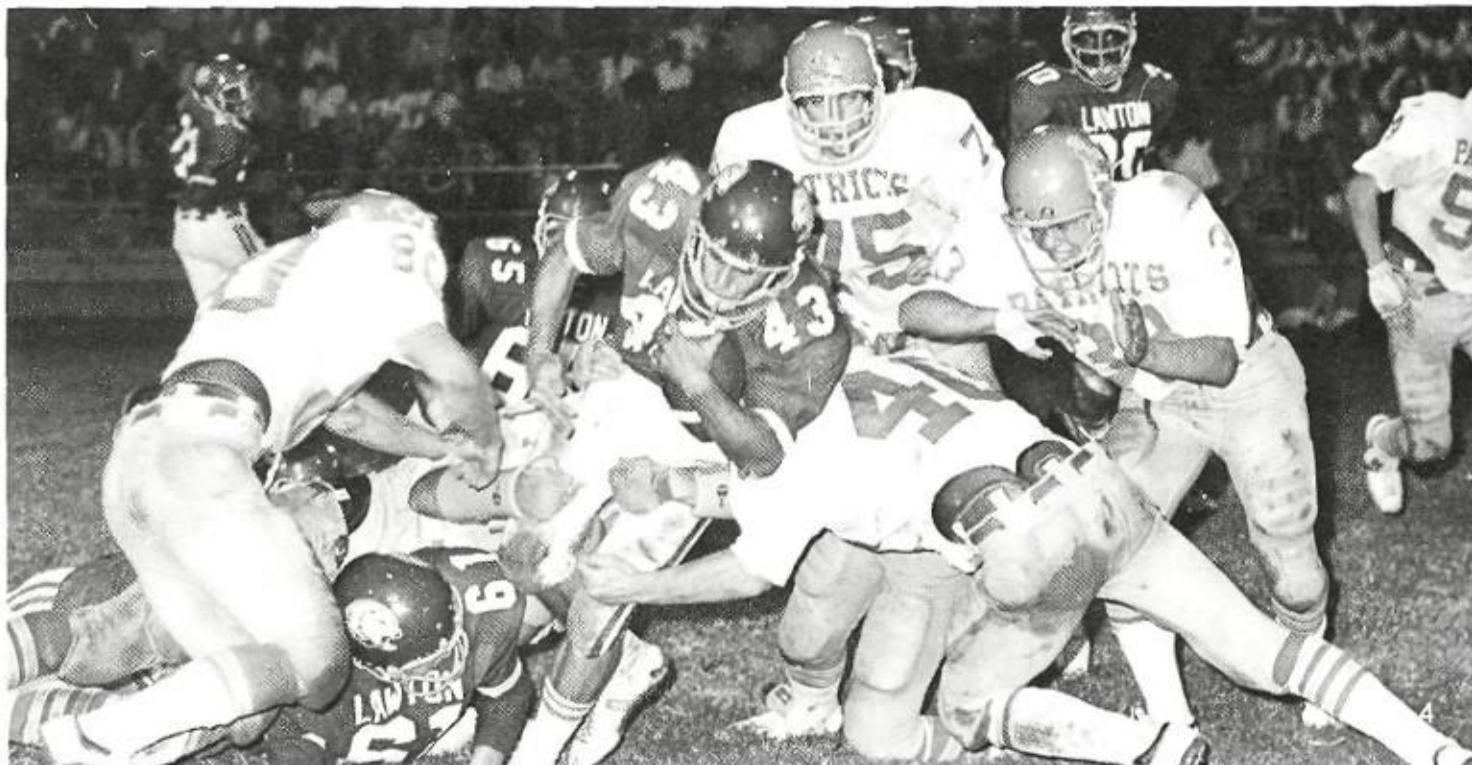

1. Jeff Hobgood, the lone Patriot in Capitol Hill country, breaks away for extra yardage.

2. Defensive halfback for the Patriots Marvin Mussyal was consumed by concentration during a tight squeeze.

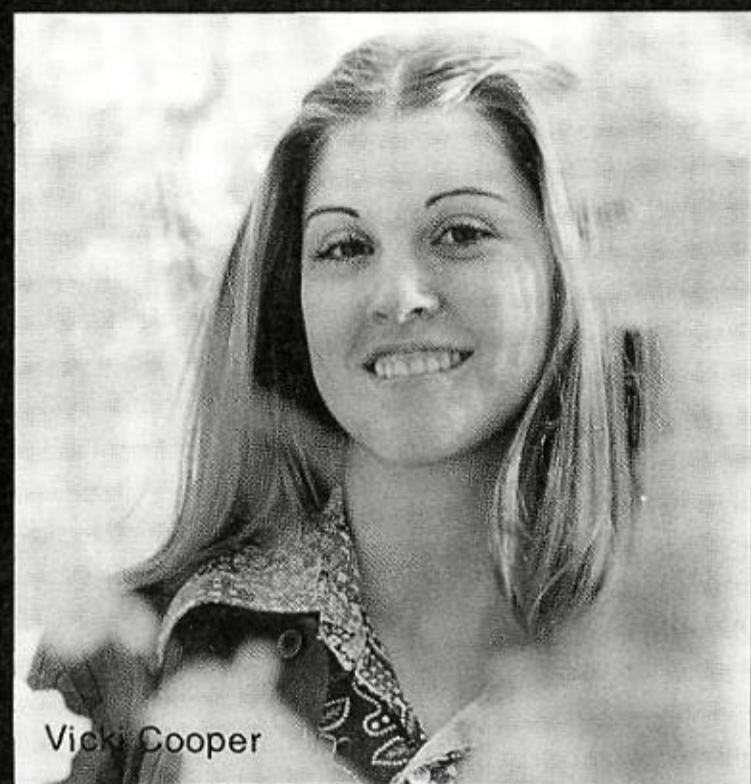

3. Denny Woosley barely escapes the wild crepe paper of the Patriot spirit hoop.

4. Lawton offense had a rude awakening as the Patriot defense charged in to topple a runner.

BASKETBALL

As far as impressive records were concerned we didn't excel as hoped for. Physically we were smaller than some but we did our best. We went into each game playing our hardest and we were victors every time we got on the court. With the fans yelling, "Two, Two," we gave one hundred percent. "I really did like Coach Calvert, he was different from Dick Close (our previous coach) but he made our year one we will never forget." He taught us the perfection of the fundamentals and he got us into shape.

LEFT TO RIGHT: Tom Herring, David Ireton, Keith Journey, Rick Hartman, Randy Boyd, John Schick, Jeff Crawford, Richard Atwell, David O'Bannon, Ron Keith, Barry Brown, Donald Calvert.

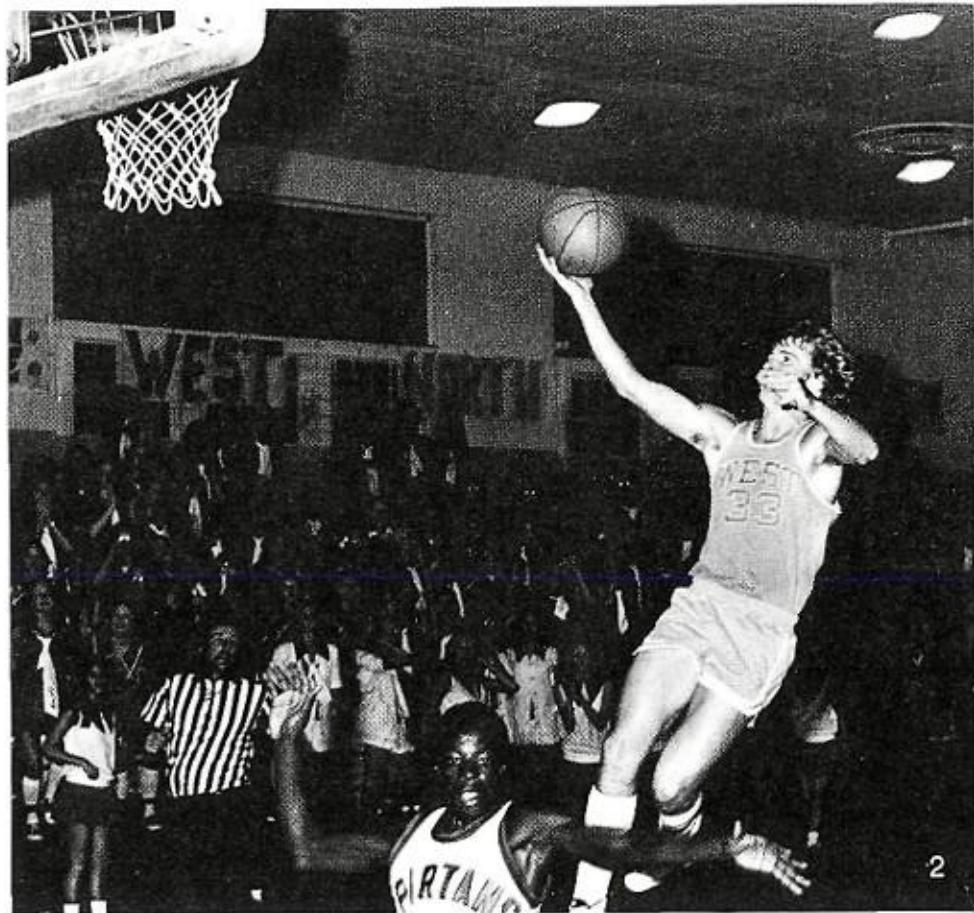

1. Jeff Crawford, senior, seems depressed during the post game pep talk following the last game of the season.
2. Jeff Crawford, senior, jumps for a basket against Southeast for a rebound.
3. Patriot spirit pushes senior Keith Journey for a basket.

ATHLETICS

Starting basketball season was one of the hardest goals we had. We were good in ball handling and we had speed. We found that our main handicap was our lack of height.

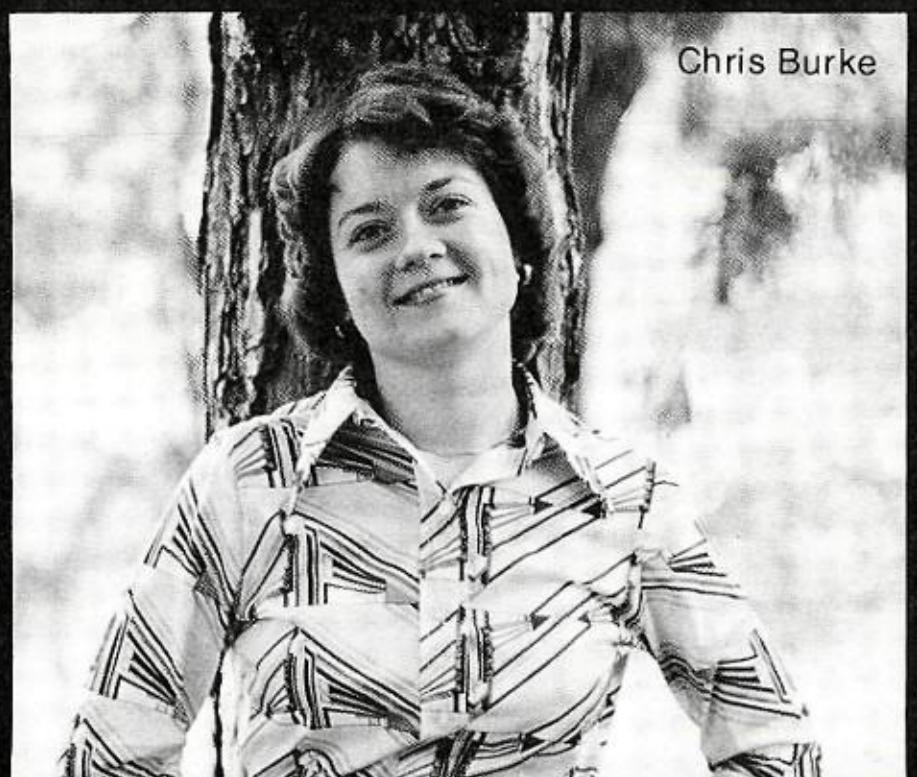

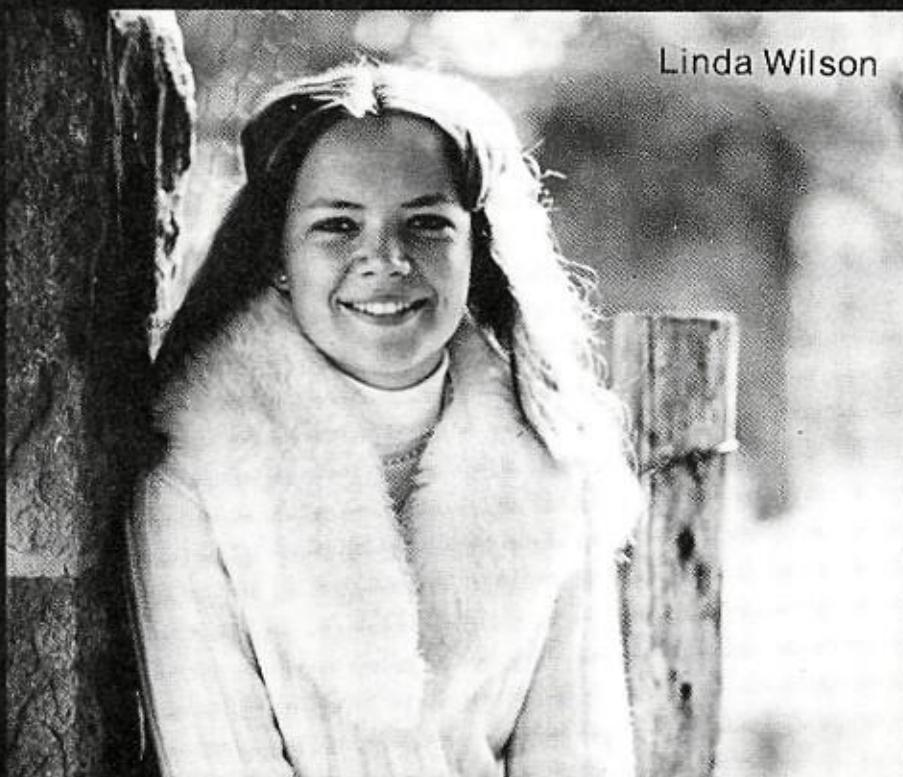

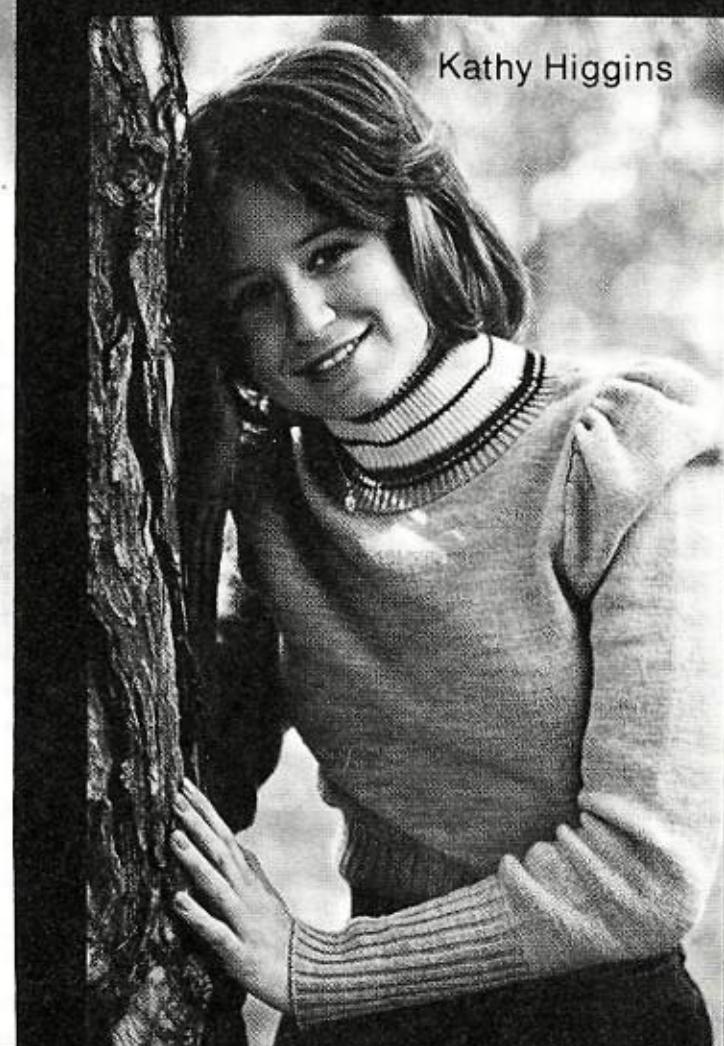

Managing to speed our way through the year, senior Barry Brown was elected our captain.

We didn't always win but we gave it all we had.

1. Coach Don Calvert encourages the Patriots with a pep talk at half time.
2. Keith Journey, senior, stretches for a lay up.
3. Senior, Barry Brown fights Southeast for a rebound.

BASKETBALL

This year, girls sports emerged from the background of P.C. West's physical educational program as we started our first season of girl's basketball. We had a total of 8 wins and 10 losses.

Canton, which was ranked no. 1 in the state, was probably the hardest team we played. They barely edged us 50-36.

Our biggest disadvantage was the fact that none of us had ever played on an organized team, while others had been playing on a team since junior high.

It made me feel good to know that I was one of 12 chosen from 35 girls who tried out for the team.

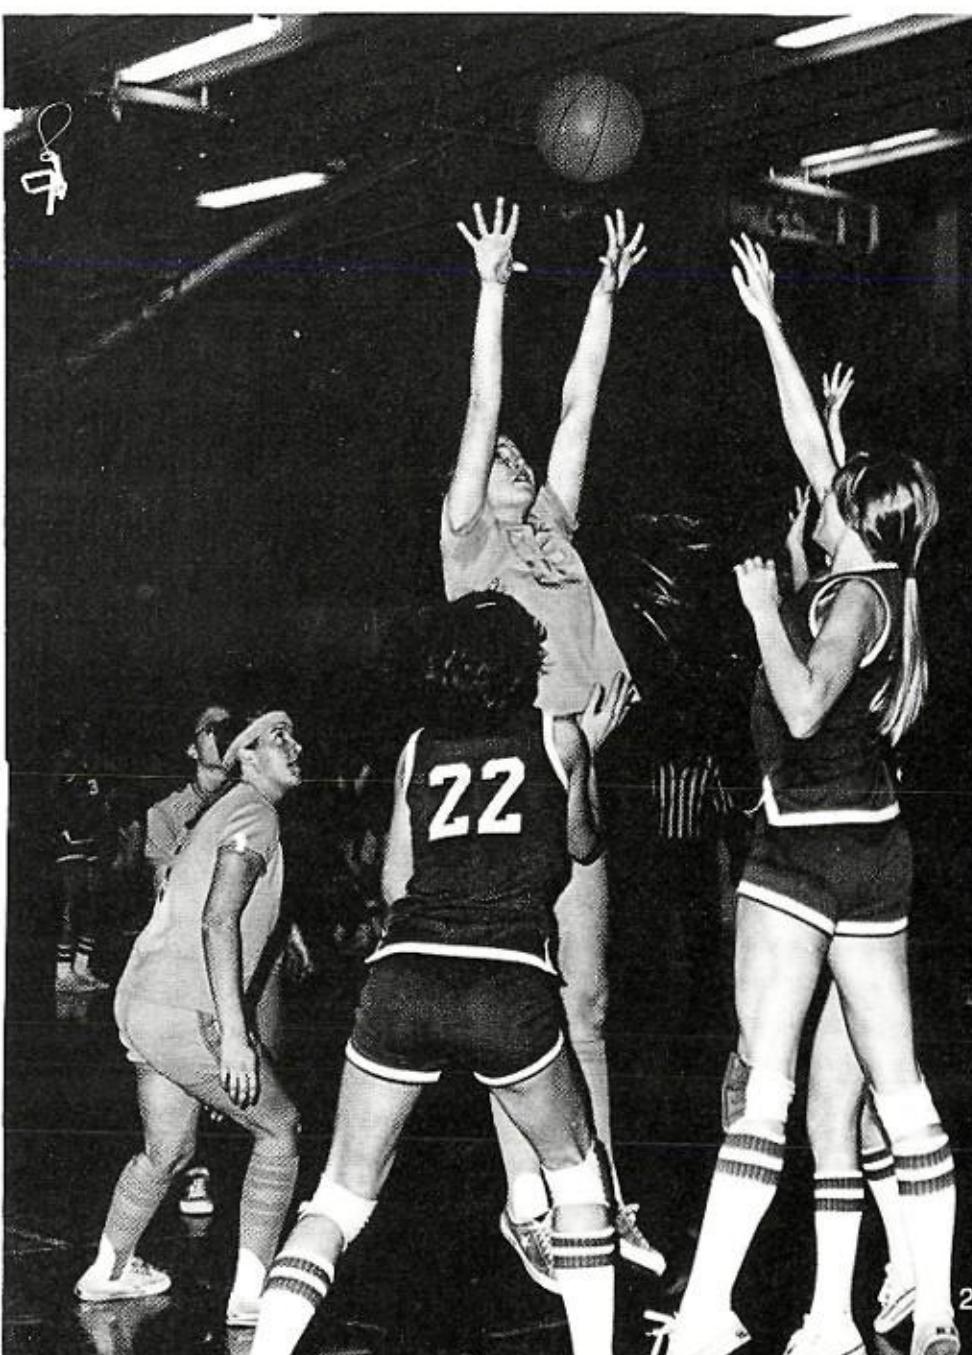

Girl's basketball really threw some of us for a loop because we had to play by state rules. Playing on half the court can really be confining.

WRESTLING

Chuck Decker took third place at state while Jimmy London used a head throw to take fourth place against his Tulsa opponent.

The coaches were really great. When we were down they were always there to build us up. They were the ones that really kept the team together.

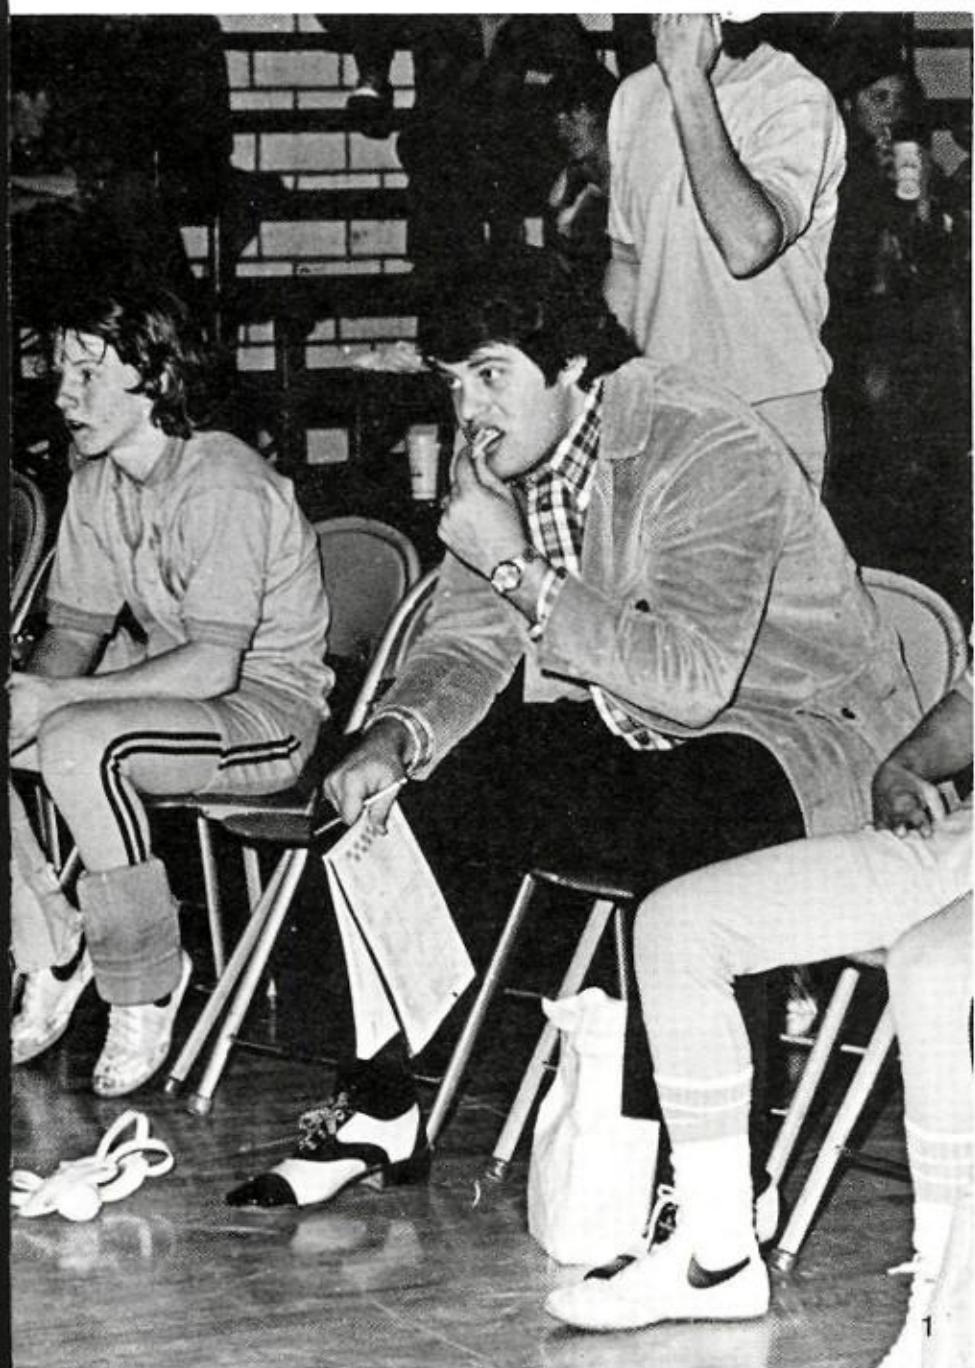

1. Gene Burris attempts a double leg take-down on his opponent.
2. Struggling to pin his John Marshall opponent is sophomore Andy Eng.
3. Ray Payne, sophomore, gets advice from Coach Harris at the Midwest City Tournament.

ATHLETICS

We really had to work hard this year. After defeating Altus 27-19, but losing to Putnam City 37-14, again, we couldn't break loose from tenth place ranking.

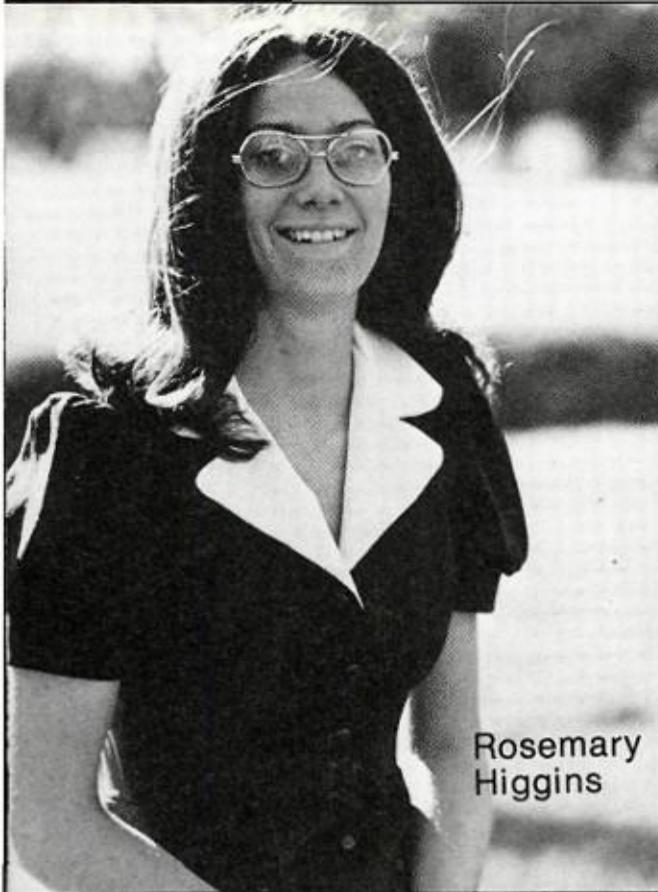

It seemed like someone was always getting hurt. First it was Joe Oakley with his leg injury and then Edgar Wilson hurt his knee. We really had to push it during those times.

Coach Sandy Harris, in his second year as wrestling coach, was joined by coach Jon Lantz.

VOLLEYBALL

"Girls Sports would not be the same without their volleyball team." The girl's varsity volleyball team took first in the Norman Invitational and the Putnam City West Tournaments this year.

During the Norman Invitational, the team sparked their way to five victories over their high ranked opponents, defeating Putnam City, Heritage Hall, Durant, Norman and Edmond.

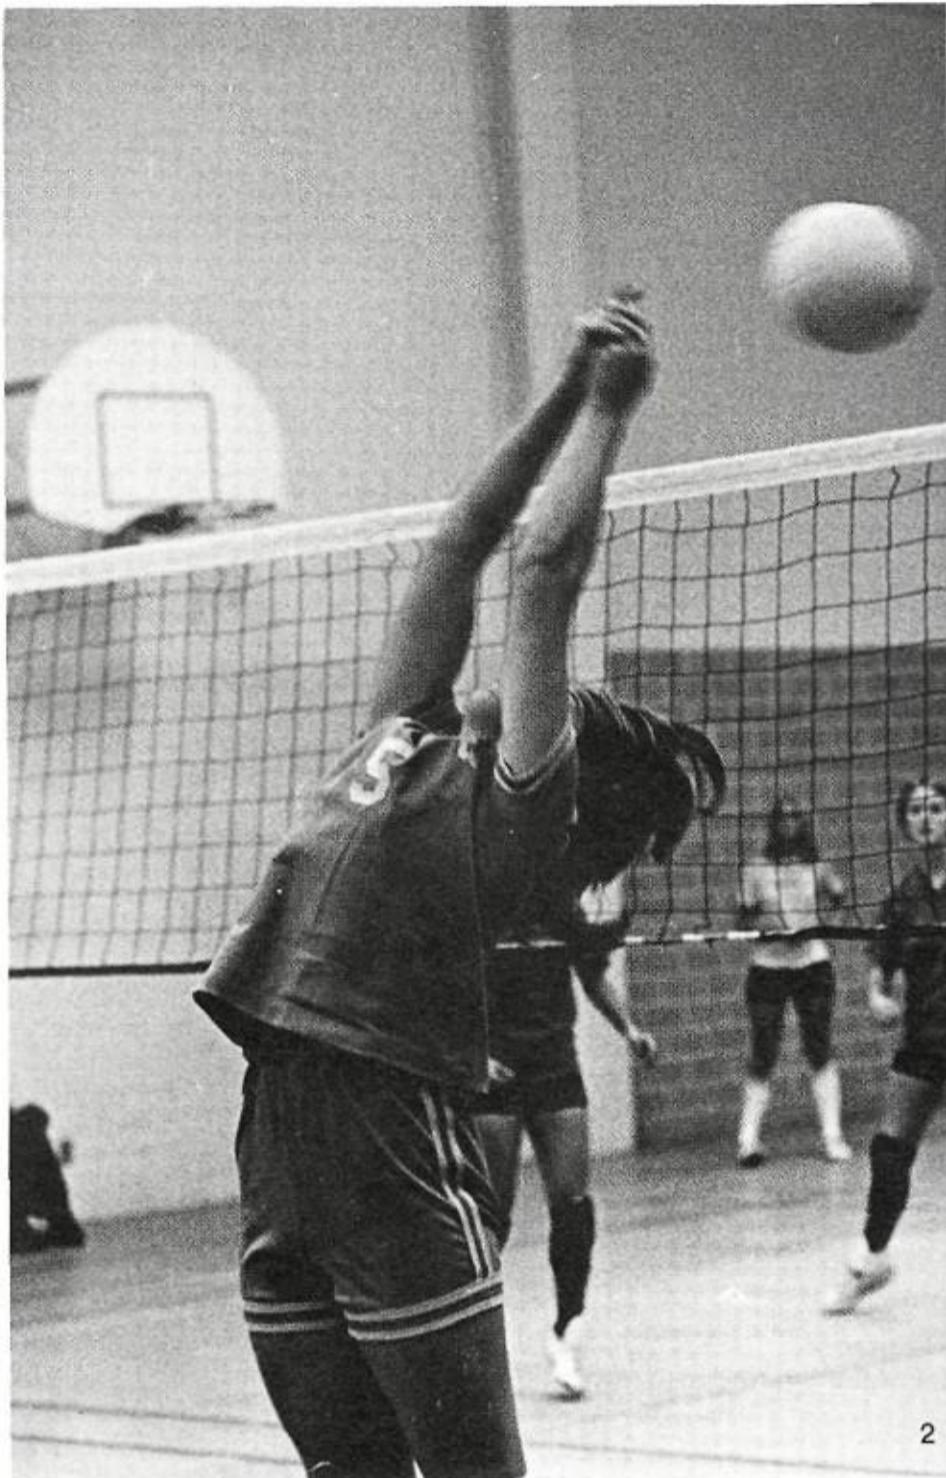

For a well deserved first place trophy the girls were satisfied and confident about their future rivalries, Volleyball is a sport that talks about confidence and pride. The girl's winning combination proves even further, "We are Patriots; We are One."

1. Kim Ware keeps the volley going during practice.

Giving one hundred per cent all of the time was what it took to have an effective girl's sports program.

September 6 and 7 the team took second at the Edmond Tournament and won the county tournament by defeating Putnam City High and Edmond.

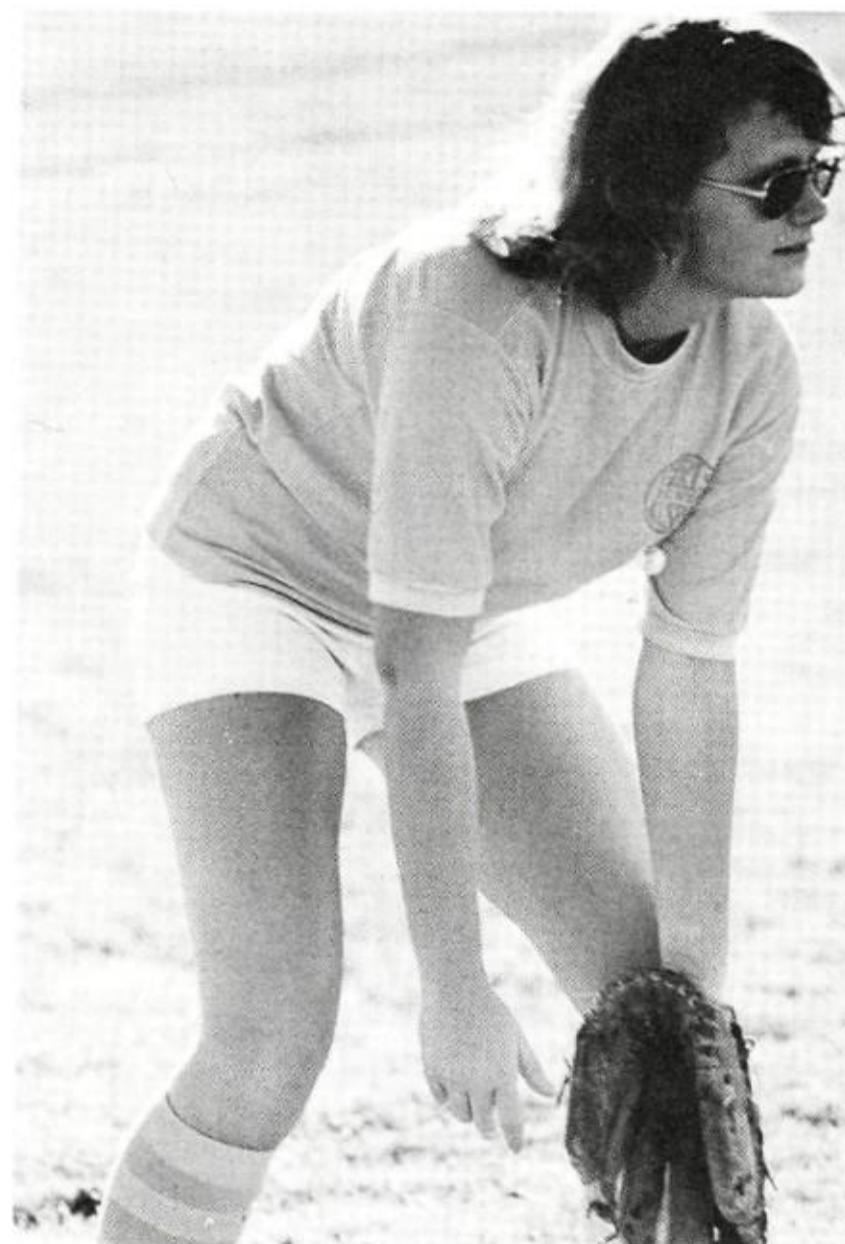

Stillwater fell to the Patriots as West romped them 15-4.

Winning regionals, West girls faced an even bigger chore, state playoffs. Ft. Townsend edged West at State

SWIMMING

Coach Seely, not only being the model coach, was the "Sugar Ray" spirit of our team. We weren't recognized as much as some of the other major sports but we were always in there highlighting in many events anyway.

Cutting through the water with speed hard to match was Joe Carter as he by passed our school record in the back stroke.

Style was the key that helped Jerry Walkabout, diver, take thirteenth place in state.

1. Senior Wayne Harlow speeds through the water during swimming practice at the YMCA.
2. A one and one half somersault pike position is a difficult task, as shown by Rob Mosley.

“We have to march at 7:00 in the morning, our hands get frozen and our lips get stuck to our mouth pieces.” “Band does a lot more than Pep Club, and they get the recognition.”

We really looked sharp this year in our new band uniforms. The girls had blue and black long dresses, while the boys wore blue and black suits with gold frilly shirts. It seems like we were always being rushed around. Nobody even had their uniforms ready for group picture day. This was the first year we played Putnam City in football, and during half time, their band joined us on the field and marched with us. We sounded better, but most people agreed that they were better marchers.

1. OJ spirit is displayed by the Putnam City West Band during half time activities of the Moore football game.

Fund raising programs were really popular this year and the band pitched in its two cents worth." "We really got ripped when they wouldn't let us play during basketball games so we left at half time."

Selling fruit cakes was the objective and the goal was Galveston. Music contests were really popular with us, especially the Galveston Music Festival. Mr. Todd, our new director was really a neat guy. It was fun getting to know him. After everything was over and the year was at an end, we looked back and thought, "We said it all in a song."

Most people think that classical music is really old fashioned, but any kind of music is good if you can get into it."

There were only about twelve or fifteen of us in orchestra, but that made it easier for us to play together. It was great getting out of school for two days during the all-state contest in December. Courses like business machines can be handy when you are looking for a job."

"Trying to learn how to write all over again felt strange."

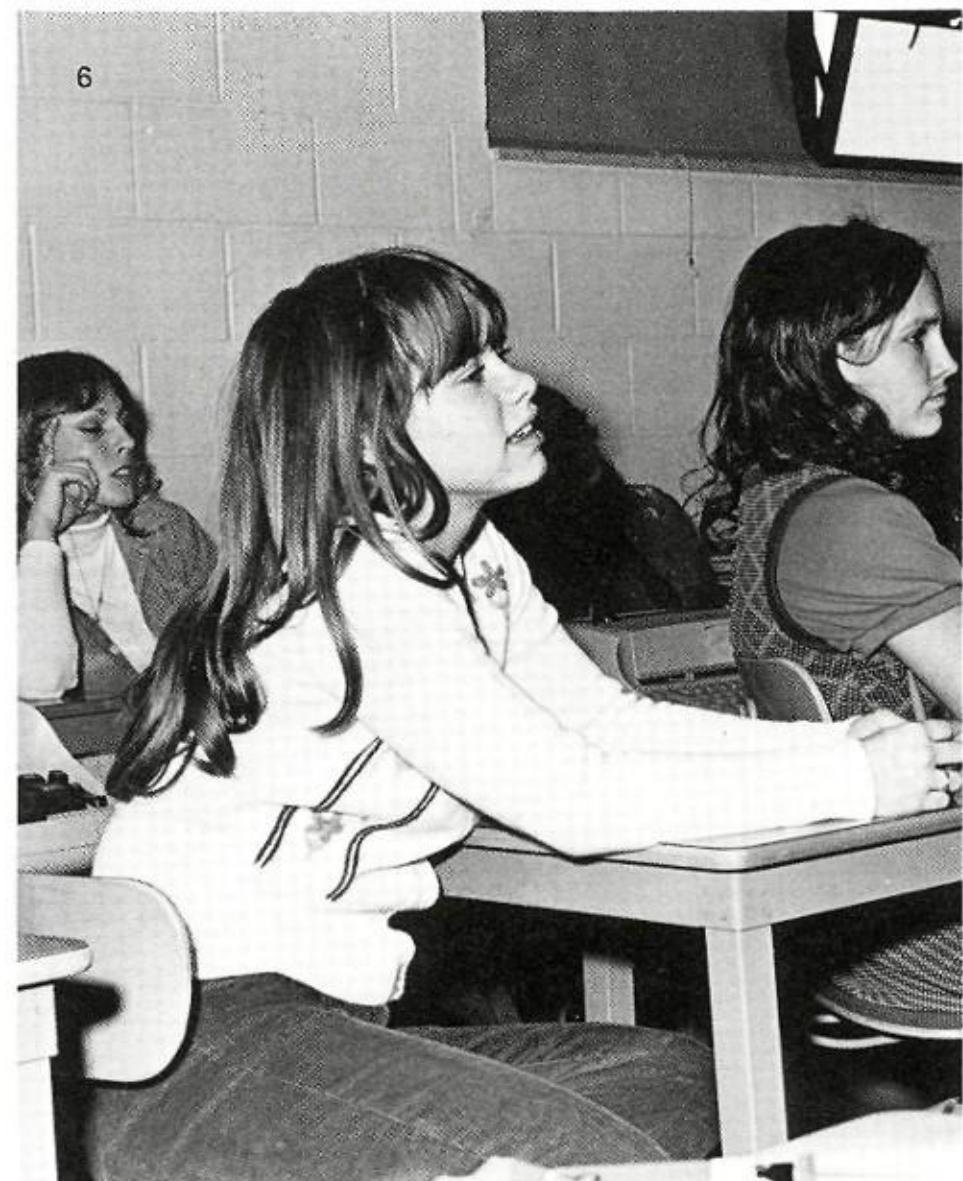

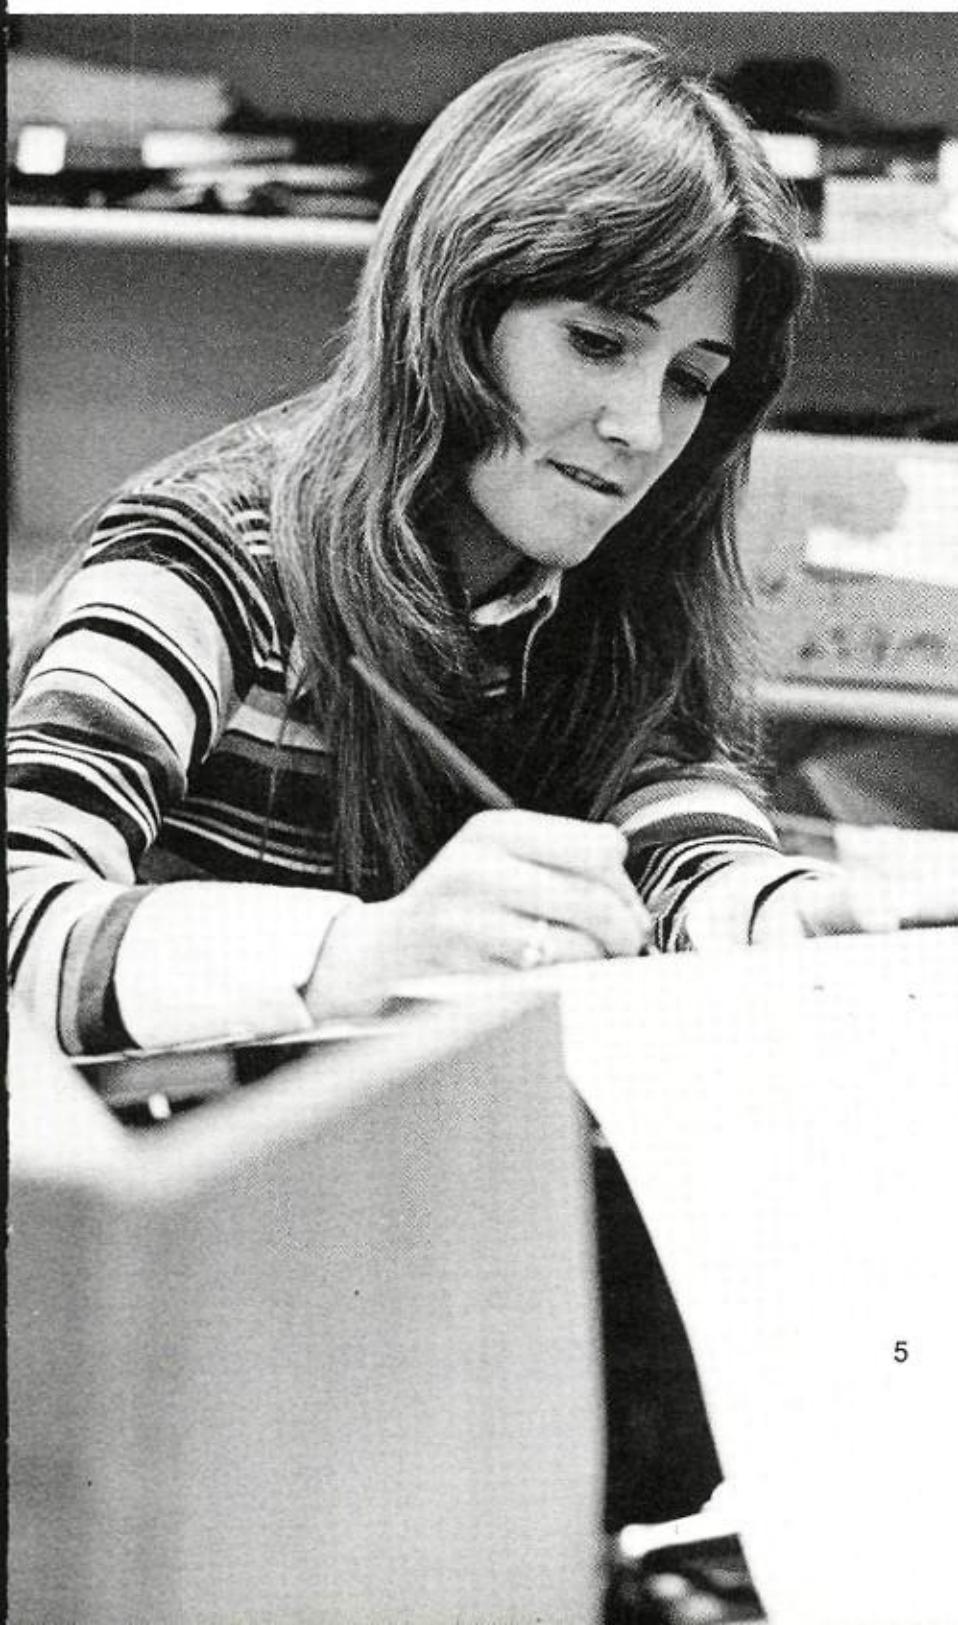

Shorthand was weird but it was a little more than just scribbling all hour.

Me and my typewriter — the comedy hit scene at West. When I first saw a typewriter, I thought it would be impossible to learn all of those letters. It wasn't any easier with Coach Seely talking while we were typing, but by the end of the year I had finally made those strange keys say something.

Our business department really helped us as we prepared for jobs now and for future jobs.

"DECA deals with our fellow employees."

DECA taught us about marketing and dealing with other people.

We sold candy for VICA employer-employee banquet this year and our breakfast speakers were really great when we met at 6:30 in the morning at Sambo's. VICA helped find us jobs in industrial areas.

I guess the main reason I liked DECA and VICA is because it gave me a job.

“Contests and concerts have really kept the chorus on their toes this year.”

We really had fun in chorus this year, but it was a bit of a hassle getting to school by 7 o'clock for early morning rehearsals. It was well worth the time and effort, because we worked together as a group to create a beautiful harmonious sound.

"If selling fruit will take us to Galveston I am all for it."
"Why don't we get Mrs. Corrigan a new temper." "She hardly ever uses her old one — we love her."

Besides going to Central State for District Contest
we further showed off our talent by sending five people to All State. Keeping everyone going all the time was quite a chore for Mrs. Corrigan.

We raised about $3000 by selling fruit for our trip to Galveston for the Chorus contest.

“Who would ever think that we'd be discussing the Arabs and the Japanese in a driver education class?"

The first day I had to drive, I got sick at my stomach. We were all nervous and embarrassed, but not so much as when the d.e. Volkswagen was wrecked, and I happened to be the one driving. Nobody liked railroad tracks. Everytime we crossed some, Coach Young, Coach Jones, or the other teachers always asked, "Did you see that train that just killed us?"

Remember when we walked around the halls blindfolded in psychology class like idiots? I even stuck my nose in a circle on the chalkboard and walked into the wrong bathroom.

The abortion films in sociology were really gross, but the marriage contracts we had to draw up were hilarious. We had to choose a study partner and decide things like how many kids we were going to have, and how much money we could spend without telling the other.

2. Mr. Koop awaits assignment questions in his geometry class.

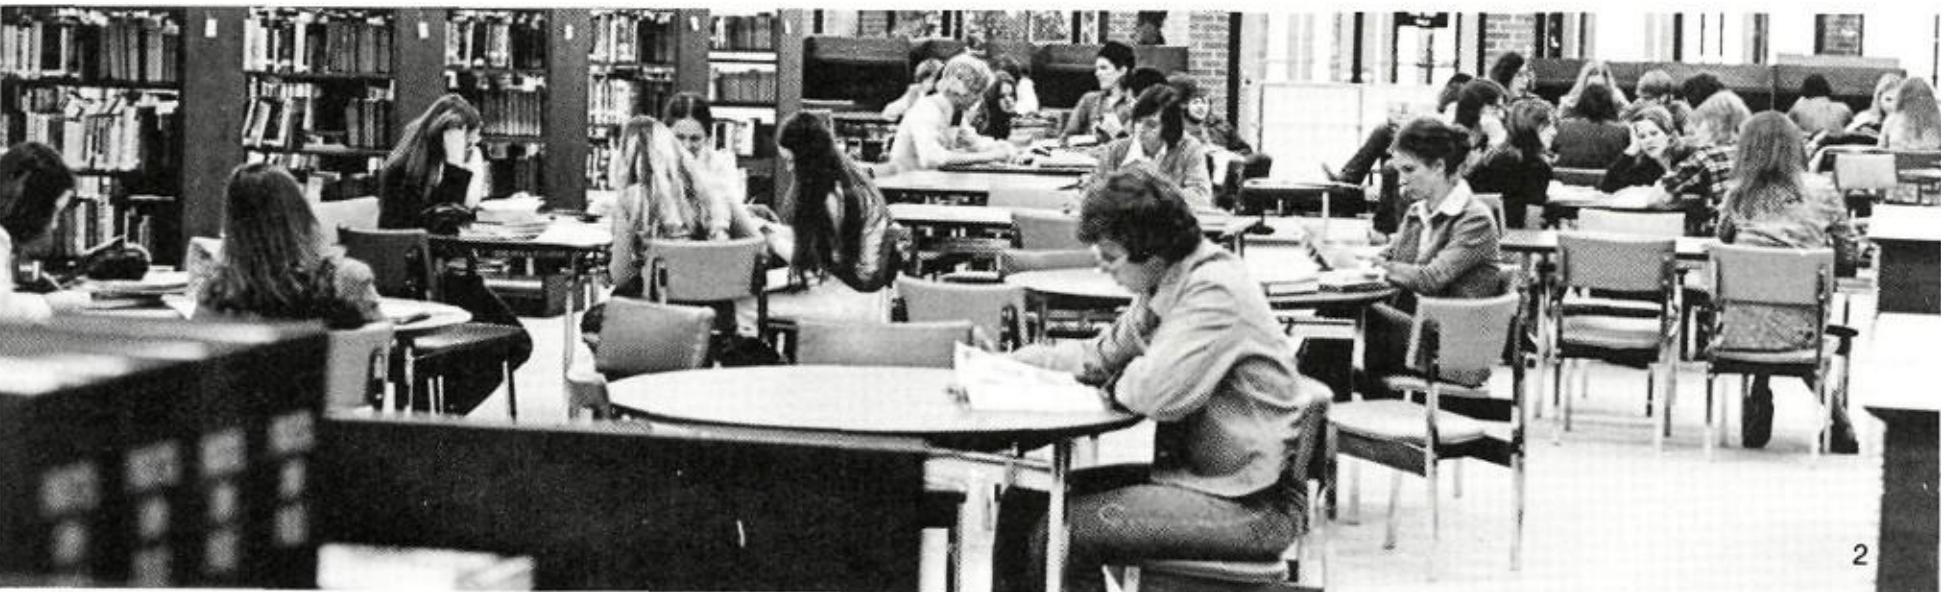

3. Nancy Kruger and John Mashburn work math problems during third hour.

"Library isn't really a class that you take; it's more like being an aide."

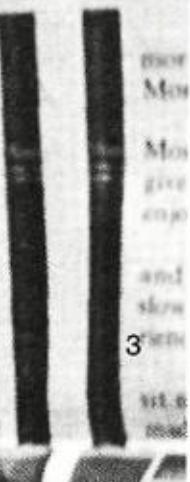

We really got our kicks out of watching the new 'beeper' system beep of people taking unchecked books out of the library. This was the first year anything like that has been installed in the school. But after a while, we got fed up with stamping books, shelving books, and even looking at books.

more and

More is More.
Or least 120mm cigarettes. A whole cigarette. A whole new feel. A whole new taste. And what's more, More is available in your choice of regular filter or unfiltered.
But either way, it's More.
Long, lean and burnished brown.
More looks like more, it tastes like more, yet it's surprisingly mild.
More smokes slower too, yet draws more enjoyment. (Which gives you more time for those relaxing moments.)

1. Jeff Trindle reads library materials in the media center.

2. The library offers students at West an outlet in reading, and a quiet study area.

3. Larry Conway reads up on the latest news through the library newspaper.

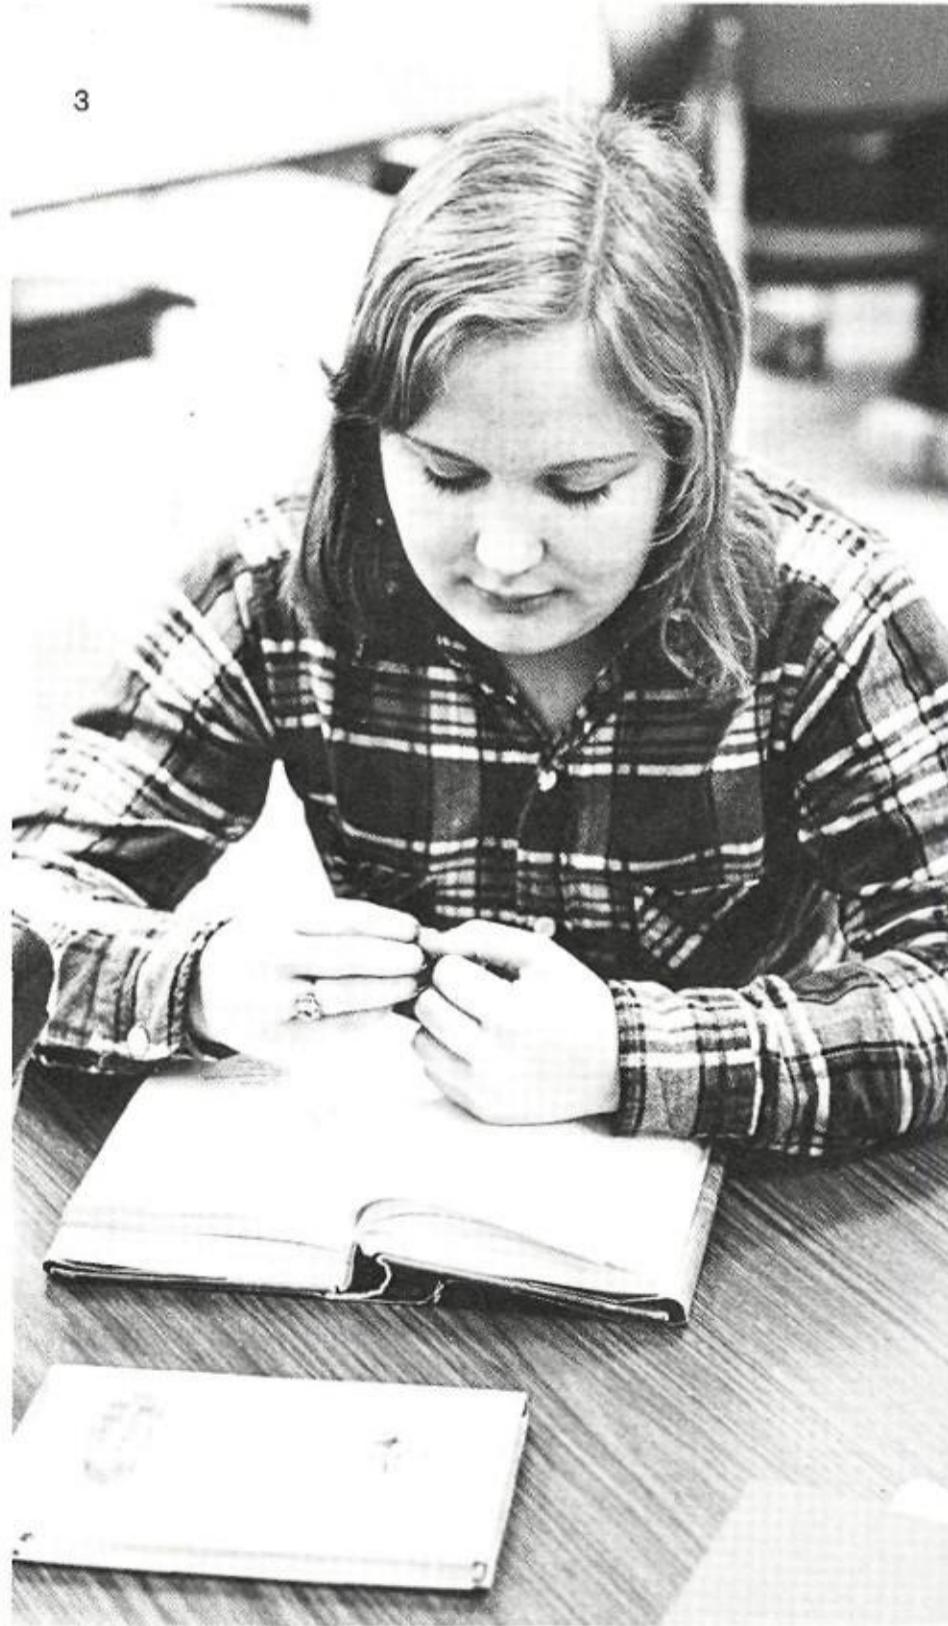

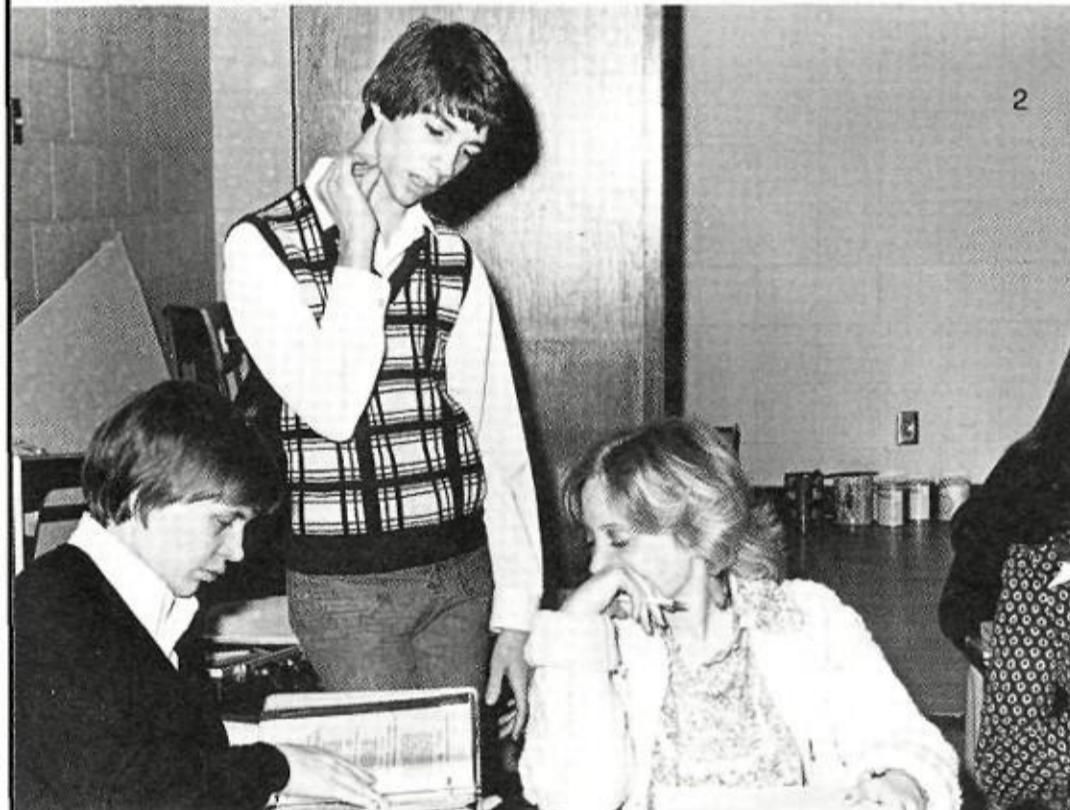

4. Discussing the new library monitoring system are librarians Mrs. Ame Gorena and Mrs. Barbara Campbell.

"I'm coming out of my shell because of speech."
"Debate puts your thoughts together into a plan."

We tried to put it all together in drama with duets and oratories and poetry. We centered our main goals on being able to communicate. It was a fun class.

Going to tournaments in drama and debate helped and we went to plenty of them. We traveled to the campus of Southern Methodist University in Fort Worth, Texas, and to Oklahoma City University's campus in March. Mr. Smith was our sponsor and he was great, if we only could have understood him.

1. Kathy Rhodes and Kathy Roush perform a skit during speech class.
2. Tired debators David Pierce and Annalisa Cahill, confer with teacher, Mr. Smith.
3. Finland foreign exchange student, Irma Kuhmonen, constructs a speech in the library.

Getting up the nerve was the hardest part of being in a play, especially if you have a large part of the dialogue."

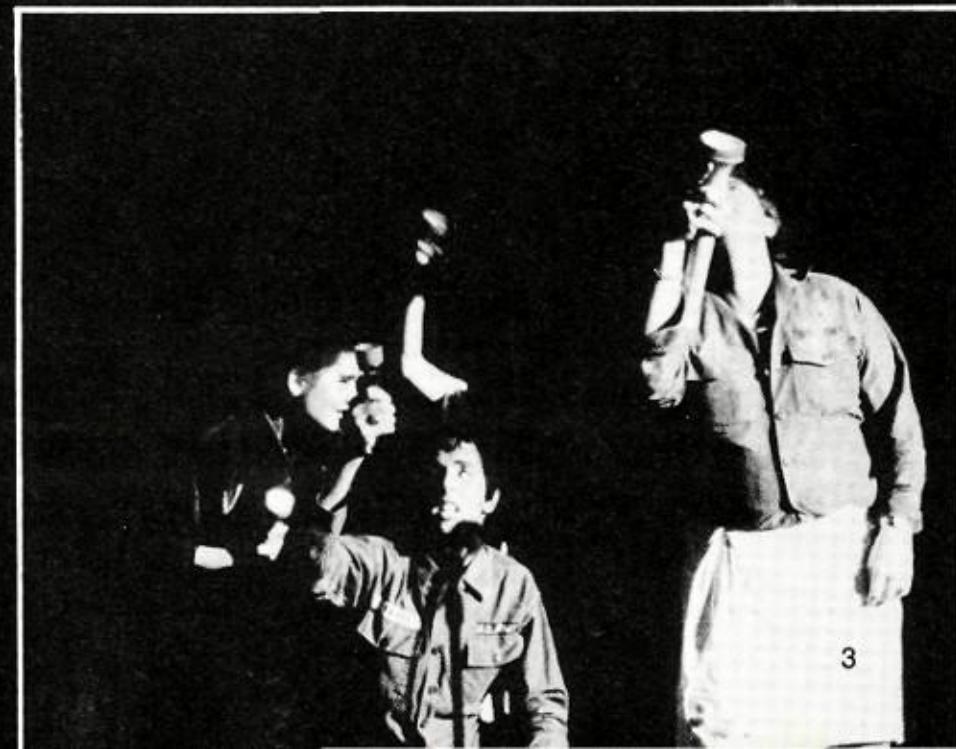

Being in one major production took a lot out of us, but this year we did two of them. M.A.S.H. led the way at the start of the year and within a few months it was followed by a "Night of One Acts".

The money we received went towards the drama students' registration at tournaments throughout the year, and for stage props, costumes, and scenery. Being in the spot light was fun but next time it might help if more time was spent on memorization of lines.

1. Rehearsing their scripts during drama class are Lydia Barrett and Bobby Miller, seniors.
2. Miss Laham talks to her drama students about costume designs.
3. Seniors Janice Waring and Mike Morgan are presenting "Childhood", one of three one-act plays presented for the English classes.

1. Michael Rahill and Janice Waring portray characters in another of Drama III's one act plays, Columbine Cum Laude.
2. Guy Ayling, kneeling, tries to convince Gary Zimmerman, corpse, that he is really dead during a scene from *M*A*S*H*.
3. Helicopter scene of *M*A*S*H* includes sophomore and seniors Daryll Keith and Kelly Keele.
4. Stacie Pennington and Randy Pugh are talking over the upcoming dance during *M*A*S*H*.
5. Robin Hanes, Peggy Atchley and Kathy Rhodes discuss the enlisted men on the set of *M*A*S*H*.
6. Junior Raymond Hutchinson and Rick McEver, senior, are telling Kevin McAfee, junior, to get rid of Major Frank Burns.

Becoming one is the final stage of growing and learning. Some people say that becoming one is the hardest part of being a Patriot, and it is. Trying to accept people for what they are is hard and in some cases a miracle. The life-span of one human compared to the age of the world makes you feel inferior and think, well, I can't make the difference. But if we, like the bell, aren't a part of the action we are nowhere. We have got to keep ringing even if we do get cracked and pushed around a lot. Too many times our lives are stereotyped. We are either a jock, or a freak, or a goat roper. Nevertheless, we are human, and Patriots, and we are one.

BECOMING ONE

One of the biggest conflicts of school is the understanding between the parents and teachers where authority starts and ends."

The out-of-doors type, Mr. Webb fishes and hunts when he finds the time. He's fond of Western music and cares little for classical.

Mr. Webb came to Putnam City West in 1968, when it was first built. He taught three years as a Driver Education Teacher and was head coach.

He was principal at Western Oaks Junior High one year, and has been principal for the last three years at West.

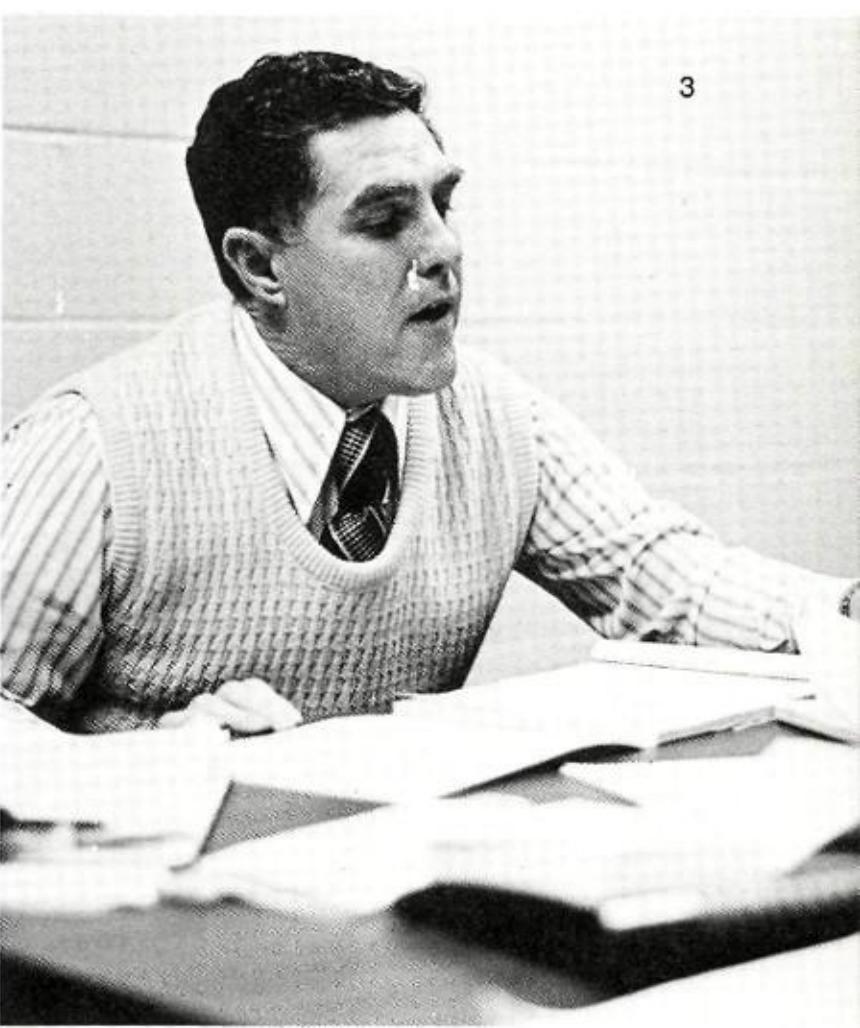

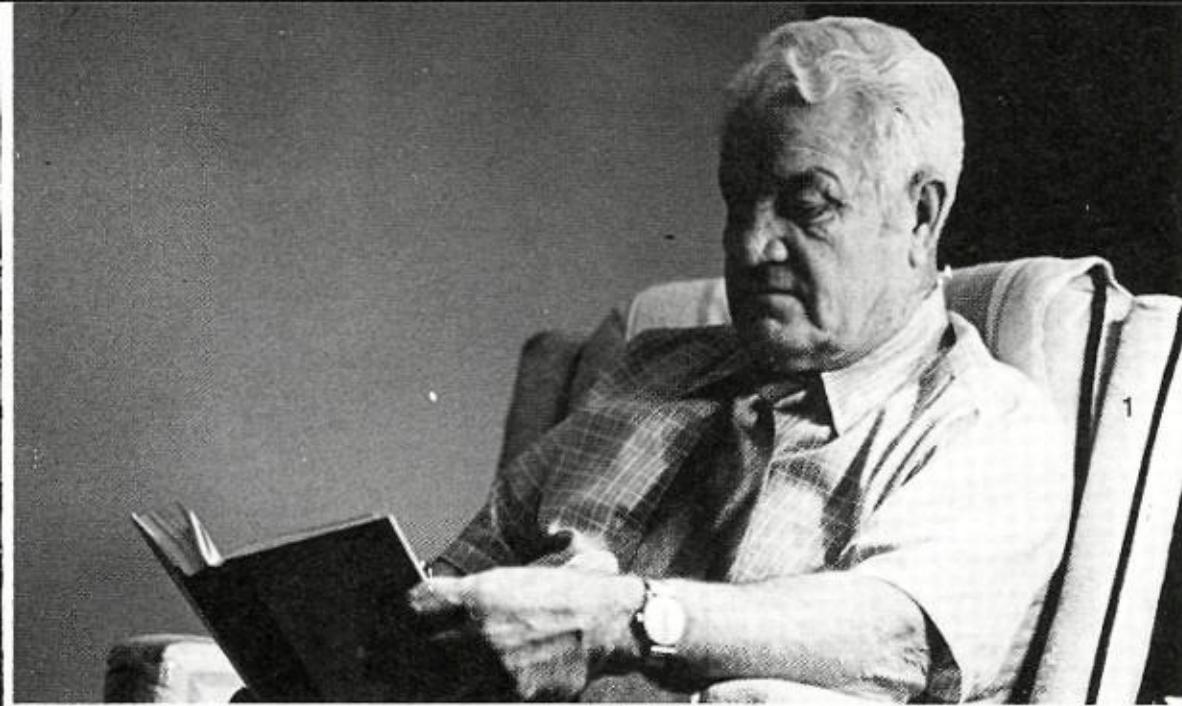

1. and 2. For enjoyment and relaxation at home Mr. Webb listens to Western music and takes time out to pet his cat, Tippy.

3. Mr. Webb consults with a student. One of the many duties he performs during the day.

“I knew I was going to miss West, and when the students gave me that plaque I was really touched.”

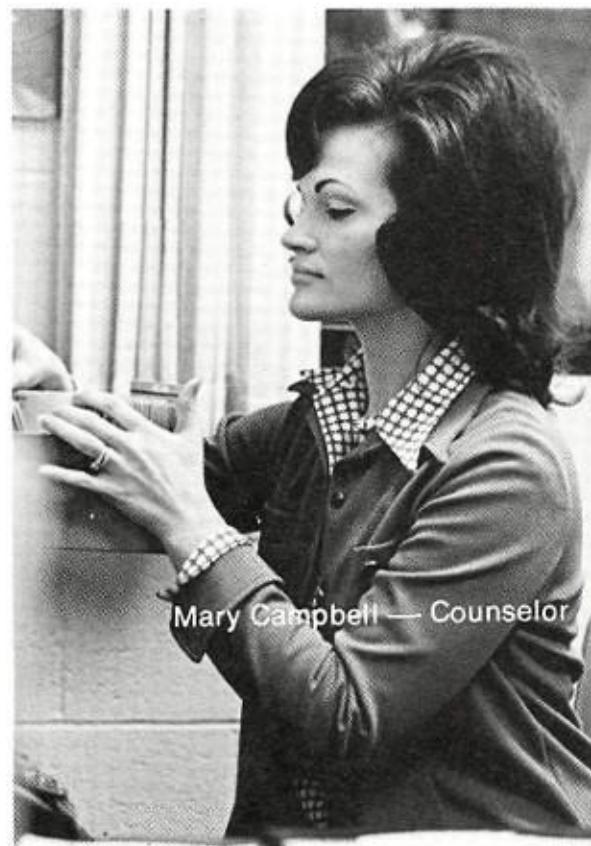

“One man that made the difference” was what the inscription read on his plaque. He did a lot for the morale of this school. His job dealt with discipline. It was hard at times to get to know the students like he wanted. He strove to get the involvement level higher and his goal wasn’t always reached, but he tried.

Of course you can’t attend West without the spirit of a “Dean Wild”. I remember when he used to come over the announcements and say, “How about that”, we all loved him. I guess highlights are sometimes hard to find in vice-principal’s lives but what could be funnier than Mr. Wild in a Santa Claus outfit? He cared for his administration, faculty and his students by talking things out and sharing his thoughts about what makes a school! His answer was always, “The students make the school”.

1. Mr. Wild relaxes at home.
2. Mr. Jindra singing the Alma Mater during a pep assembly.
3. Mr. Dees consels with a student.
4. Administration and faculty gave a going away party for Mr. Jindra, who left after first semester. Mr. Dees, seated behind Mr. Jindra, took over during second semester.

I get a lot of satisfaction in knowing that just listening to someone can help them over the rough places.

"How could we be anything but the best?"
 You know, that's really true. The West student body was the best and it's because three classes got it together! A lot had to do with the Seniors. It's cool that we haven't lost that pride, that courage, that strength that makes us one.

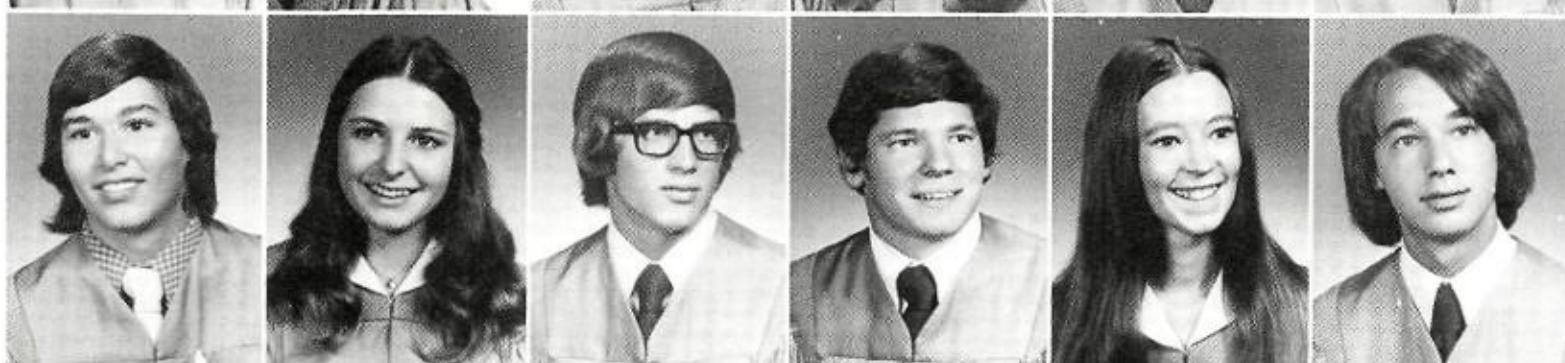

Senior class officers are Connie Hill, treasurer; Dale Bergman, vice-president; Jana Nordquist, sergeant at arms; Richard Buchanan, president; Bobbie Skelton, secretary.

“West makes school kind of fun.”

The high level enthusiasm of the sophomores it just made our year at west something really far out. The key to their class was highspirited involvement. They did a bunch of cool stuff! The coming of a new sophomore class just made the year 74-75 complete Teacher brutality? Actually it amounts to classroom fun! Mrs. Nyffeler was awarded first swing at the pinata by her homeroom.

The teachers at West get involved in school activities and are concerned about student participation. Teachers and students seem to be closer to each other.

Teachers are individuals, humans, and friends. The bond of learning is always strong, whether it comes easily or not. Students and teachers grew throughout the year by exchanging knowledge and ideas.

DO I BELONG?

At the beginning of the year I asked myself, "Do I belong?" In growing, as the year progressed I found myself changing individually, separately.

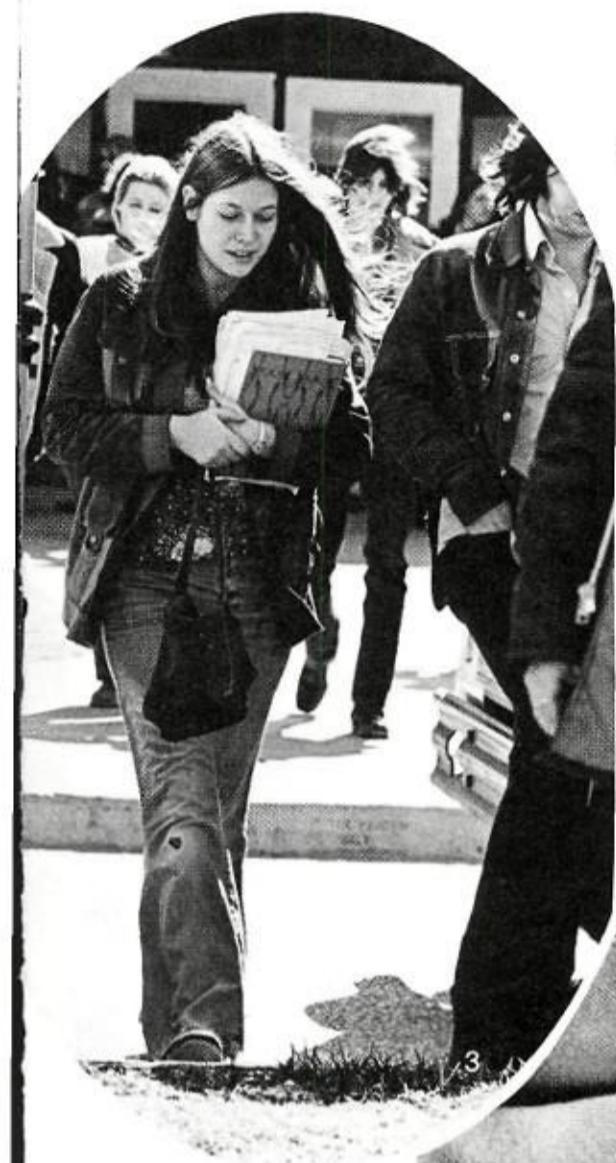

In learning, we found answers through ourselves and others.

Becoming one was a little harder than growing. We find we leave here together in one spirit, in one school, as our own.

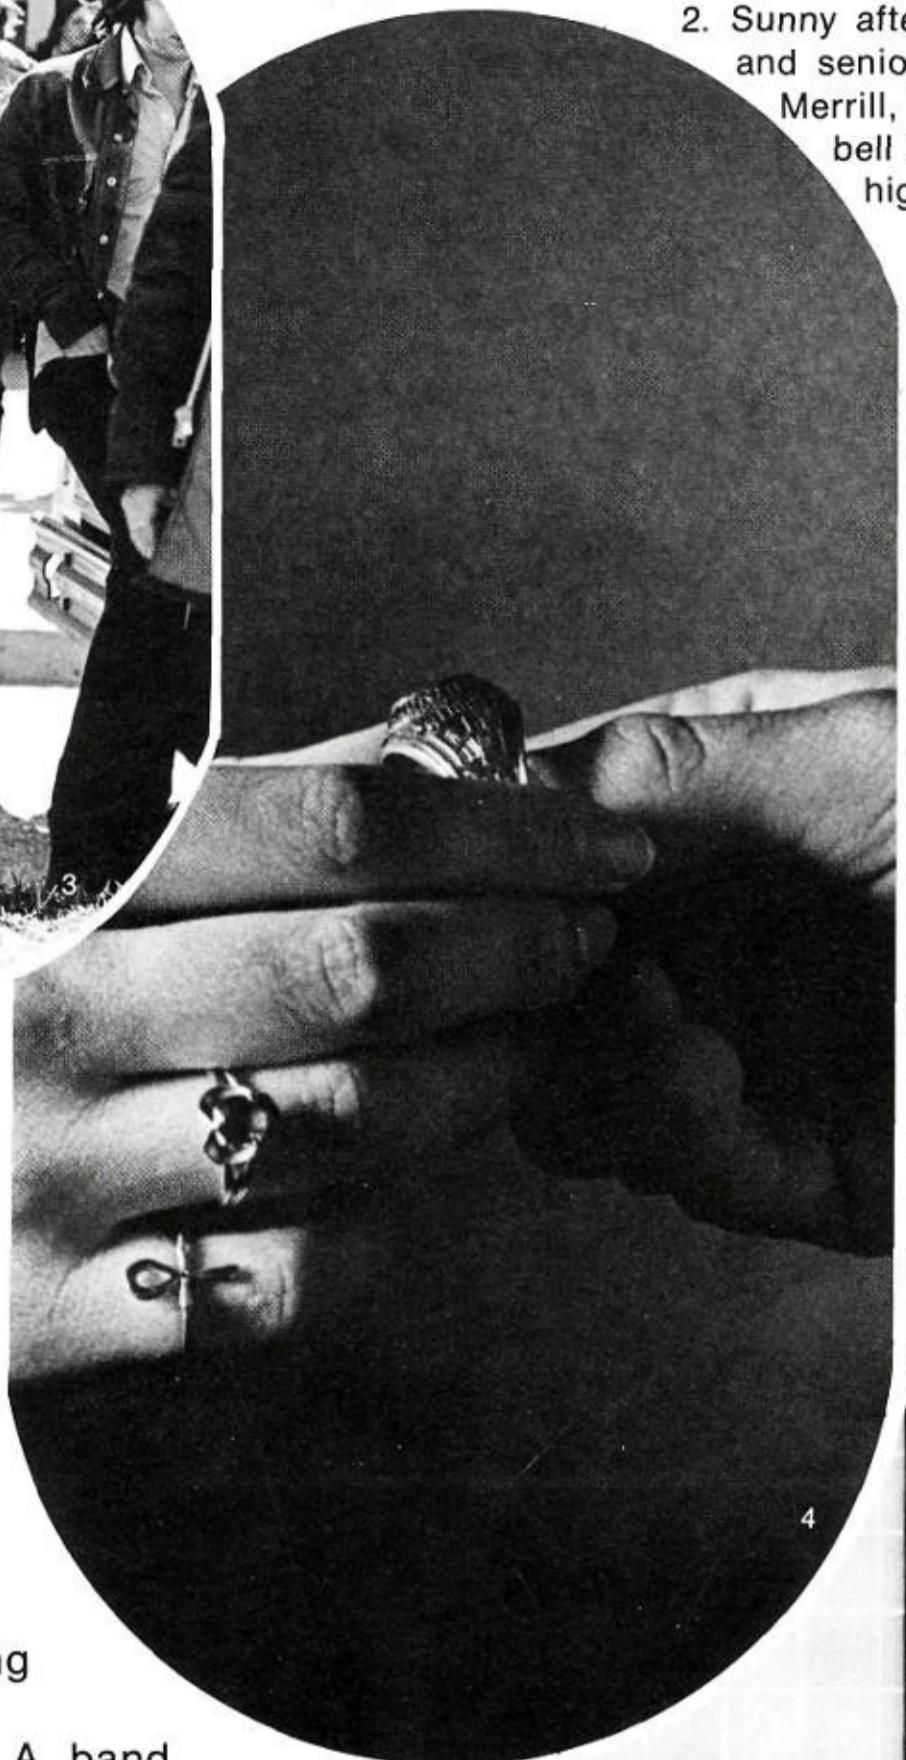

Looking back we find ourselves remembering things from the year.

Close your eyes, you were there too. We heard voices, we marched up and down them and it was spirit day. Clowns in curlers, stood on the tables singing just like again. Guys with greased down hair and white T-shirts walked up and down the halls and it was 50's day.

Remember the last day of school? Somehow we pictured it to be. For some of us it meant leaving a place we came to know as a second home. They were empty, they were empty and used. Then we opened our eyes to the beginning summer clean up. How many memories

1. Singing the Alma Mater are juniors Steve Richardson and Denise Dressel. 2. Sunny afternoons beckon junior Mark Jackson and senior Lila Wells. 3. Students like Debbie Merrill, junior, flock from school as the 2:45 bell rings. 4. Ordering a class ring was a highlight of the year. 5. Senior caps and gowns wait for graduation.

OJ is the spirit and the lifeblood of Putnam City West.

He is a spirit, an idea that Coach Dick Close came up with six years ago to give West something special that no other school had. He is the voice that you hear behind the ringing of the spirit bells Patrick Henry and Thomas Jefferson in the pep assemblies and at the games.

He is the name you see autographed all over butcher paper signs. He is the emotion that helped us win the spirit stick at cheerleading clinic.

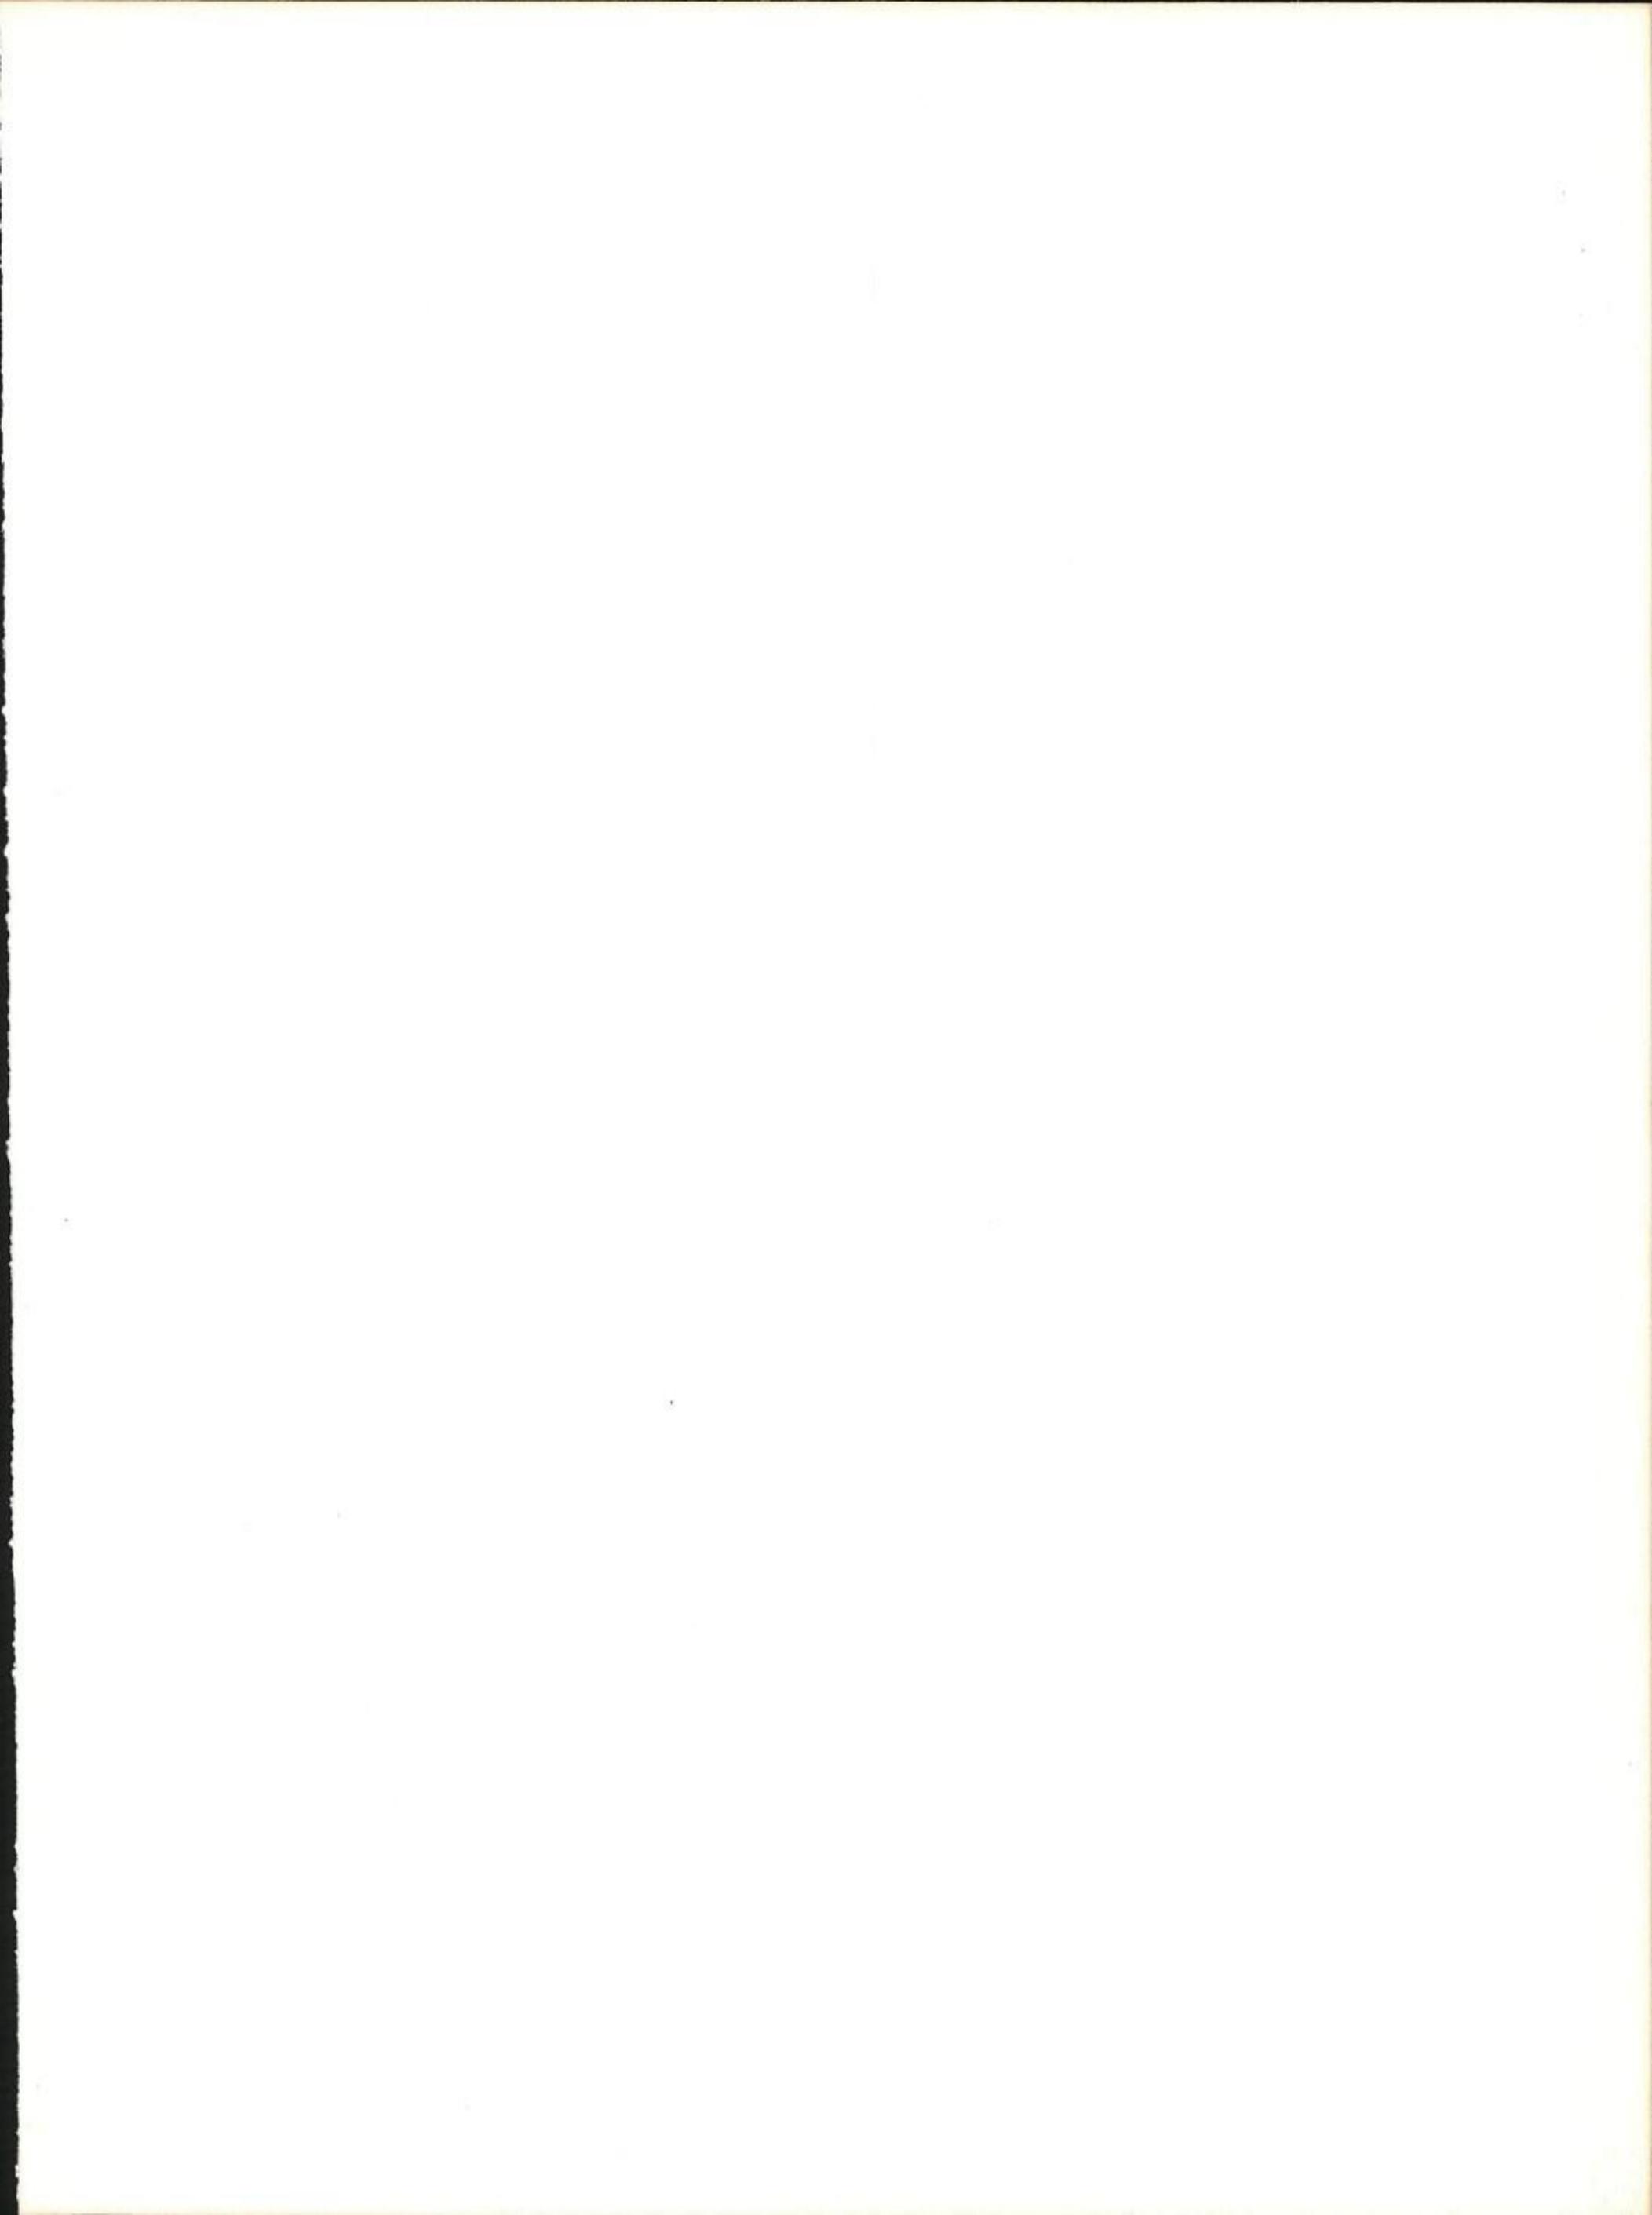

He is the imaginary six foot two inch symbol that helps out in every activity. He is the inner excitement and enthusiasm of a tearful student body together as one. He is present in every individual.

He is our Osgood J. Bumpkin.

Life's destination is ahead, we've only begun the journey.
